MAJ. JOS. WHELESS, JUDGE ADVOCATE IN ARMY, DISCHARGED

Removed After Opinion Favoring Civil Trial for Drafted Men Who Fail to Report.

PROSECUTED FRANKE CASE

In This Trial He Argued Those Who Failed to Answer Call Were Deserters.

Maj. Joseph Wheless of 6251 Washington boulevard, Judge Advocate, United States Army, stationed since July in the Central Division headquarters in Chicago, has been honorably discharged from the army following the writing of an opinion to the effect that drafted men who failed to report when ordered should be tried in the United States courts and not by army court-martial.

The opinion was given by Maj. Wheless in September at the request of the Department of Justice, and more than a month later was sent to the Judge Advocate-General's office.

Without previous notice the order for his discharge was received by him in Chicago Dec. 5. He went immediately to Washington, where the question of his reinstatement or the issuance of a new commission to him was taken up and is now under consideration.

Maj. Wheless talked of his discharge reluctantly this morning, but said that he wished it understood he had no controversy with his superiors and that here was nothing in the discharge which reflected upon him personally.

He said that as Judge Advocate he followed the views of his superiors and aided in the prosecution of such cases on the theory that the men were deserters. The opinion he gave was in response to a general request from the Department of Justice for an opinion as to the status of drafted men who did not report for service. His personal opinion, as given, was that they were not deserters, and should be tried by a jury in the Federal courts.

He wrote the brief in the case of Robert Henry Franke of St. Louis, who instituted a suit in the United States District Court seeking to escape trial by courtmartial.

In this case he took the War Department's position that Franke should be tried by courtmartial, a view which was sustained by the court, and Franke was tried and convicted by an army court at Jefferson Barracks. The appeal from the United States District Court is pending before the United States Circuit Court of Appeals.

Difference of Legal Opinion.

Maj. Wheless made it plain that his discharge was brought about through a difference of legal opinion, and not through any opposition on his part to the carrying out of the orders of his superiors.

On the question of reinstatement the view is taken by the Judge Advocate-General's office that the order of dismissal is final, and that there can be no reinstatement. The matter now pending is whether a new commission can be issued to him.

The day his discharge was received Maj. Wheless was named Summary Court, an honor which, he pointed out, would not have been conferred by one of his superiors if there had been anything reflecting upon him personally in his conduct of his duties.

It is Maj. Wheless' intention to resume the practice of law in St. Louis pending the outcome of the consideration of the issuance of a new commission to him.

SOLDIERS NOT TO BE EXECUTED UNTIL SENTENCES ARE REVIEWED

President Issues Order Affecting All Forces Except Those Abroad—Wants No Injustice Done.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 29.—President Wilson has prohibited the execution of any more American soldiers—except in Gen. Pershing's forces abroad—before the sentence of the courts-martial have been reviewed in Washington.

Heretofore this has not been necessary in war time, but the President has made the rule that it may be made double sure that no injustice is done.

Thirteen negro troopers of the Twenty-fourth Infantry, were recently executed for the rioting at Houston, Tex., without review at Washington. No fault has been found in the verdict of the court or their sentence, but it has been felt advisable to have death penalties reviewed by the War Department before execution.

LOSS OF ZEPPELIN REPORTED

Said to Have Been Wrecked, With Seaplane, in North Sea.

LONDON, Dec. 29.—A Zeppelin and a seaplane which was accompanying it have been wrecked in the North Sea, according to a Central News dispatch from Copenhagen, quoting advices received there from West Jutland.

The Zeppelin is said to have fallen in flames to the sea.

$567 PAID FOR A POUND OF BUTTER FOR THE PRESIDENT

Bid in at Red Cross Sale and Sent to Executive for His Christmas Dinner.

WATERLOO, Io., Dec. 29.—The pound of butter recently bid in at a Red Cross sale for $567 by B. A. Davis, at Marble Rock, Io., conducted by the auxiliary of Union and Scott Townships in Butler County, and which was sent to the White House, for the President's Christmas dinner, has brought the following letter of appreciation from President Wilson:

"The White House.

"My Dear Mr. Davis: It is very inspiring to hear of such successes as that of the Red Cross auxiliaries of Union and Scott Townships.

"I shall partake of the pound of butter with awe. The price paid for it is certainly an extraordinary evidence of patriotic interest.

"May I not, through you, congratulate all concerned in the great Red Cross sale? And thank you very heartily for the butter.

"Cordially and sincerely yours,

"WOODROW WILSON."

JUDGE KRUEGER SMASHES CHIPS AND A TABLE TAKEN IN RAID

Descends From Bench and Demolishes Property Woman Had Asked Him to Return to Her.

Judge Krueger in the Court of Criminal Correction today descended from the bench with a hammer in his hand and destroyed a table and poker chips seized in a raid on the home of Mrs. Elizabeth Campbell at 505 North Newstead avenue in a police raid Sept. 9.

Mrs. Campbell was acquitted of a charge of gambling about two weeks ago. Today her attorneys appeared in court and filed a motion asking that the property seized at her home be restored to her. They were accompanied by her bondsman, Bernard P. Bogy.

An assistant Circuit Attorney argued that under the law the seized property should be destroyed.

"That's right," said Judge Kruger. "Get a hammer." A deputy sheriff found one and the judge after demolishing the table and chips tore up the cards.

3 BELOW HERE IN COLD WAVE WHICH EXTENDS TO EAST

FUEL FAIRLY PLENTIFUL

Suffering Feared in Some Atlantic States Owing to a Coal Shortage.

The cold wave which came upon St. Louis in the night and became more intense through the morning is general over the eastern part of the country to the Atlantic Coast. The cold will continue this afternoon and tonight, but hope is held out by the forecaster that tomorrow the skies will be fair and the temperature will be higher.

After midnight the temperature remained about stationary, around 4 above, until 3 o'clock, when it fell to 3. An hour later it was 1 above and at 5 o'clock it reached zero. In the next two hours it went down 2 degrees, held steady at 8 o'clock and at 9 dropped 3 below. These were the official readings.

City's Coal Supply Fairly Good.

The city's coal supply was fairly good for current requirements when the cold wave set in, but if it continues a few days there will be a serious shortage.

Park Commissioner Cunliff announced that there is a sufficient supply of coal on hand for the municipal stations. Two cars are on track in addition to one that is being unloaded and each station has a few tons in reserve. It has not been decided whether the stations will be open on New Year's day.

At the municipal lodging house 102 men applied last night for shelter. Eight were taken in at the Central Police Station.

The cold wave which set in yesterday at Chicago continued today, but promised warmer weather was expected to avert an acute fuel situation.

In New York the temperature was one degree below zero at 8 o'clock this morning and falling. A snowstorm which began early this morning had not abated. A high wind accompanied the snowfall and there were traffic delays during the early rush hours.

It was said that only two-thirds of New York's normal daily coal supply of 40,000 tons was distributed yesterday and the prospects of obtaining the average quota within the next few days are considered dubious.

Suffering in Other Cities.

Philadelphia is having the coldest day of the winter. Steam and electric car service is interrupted and wires have been damaged. Although the lowest temperature was 6 degrees above zero, a high wind added to the discomfort and there was suffering among all classes on account of fuel shortage.

The most severe cold wave since 1914 is sweeping New England. The temperature dropped from 37 above yesterday morning to 4 below at Boston at 7:30 this morning, with a prospect of little change today or tomorrow. The Weather Bureau has given warning that the minimum is likely to be lower than any record since February, 1914, when it went to 11 below.

Middle West Temperatures.

Official reports from some Middle West cities follow, the figures indicating the degrees below zero:

Duluth 30; Moorhead, Minn., 30; Charles City, Io., 18; Des Moines, Io., 16; Devil's Lake, N. D., 32; Green Bay, Wis., 14; La Crosse, Wis., 16; Peoria, Ill., 12; St. Paul, Minn., 22; Norfolk, Neb., 27; Omaha, Neb., 20; Cairo, Ill., 6; Lincoln, Neb. 17.

Temperature 28 Degrees Below at Sioux City, Io.

SIOUX CITY, Io., Dec. 29.—Twenty-eight below zero this morning. The coldest of the winter.

Mercury Drops to 10 Below at Albany, N. Y.

ALBANY, N. Y., Dec. 29.—A minimum temperature of 10 degrees below zero was recorded at the United States Weather Bureau station here today.

Kansas and Western Missouri Report 12 Below.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Dec. 29.—Temperatures ranging from 2 below zero to 12 below prevailed in Kansas and western Missouri today.

48 Below at White River, Ont., 32 Below at Winnipeg.

AVIATOR LOST DURING FLIGHT

PENSACOLA, Fla., Dec. 29.—Student Aviator Crowe, missing since Wednesday, has not been found, and reports that he had been rescued are denied at the naval air station.

Crowe made a flight alone and is believed to have been caught in a fog bank and lost his course, possibly going to sea. He had no compass.

First Pictures of American Soldiers Captured by the Germans

NEPHEW OF BARTHOLDT HELD FOR THREE DAYS

St. Louis X-Ray Expert Detained at Camp McClellan While Record Was Investigated.

Ludwig C. Niedner of 4249 Shenandoah avenue, a nephew of former Congressman Richard Bartholdt, has returned to St. Louis from Camp McClellan, at Anniston, Ga., where he was detained three days by agents of the United States Department of Justice while they investigated his record.

Niedner, who is an X-ray expert, and until two months ago was a physicist in the municipal testing laboratory in the Municipal Courts building, was in Camp McClellan repairing an X-ray machine which he had installed in the camp hospital two months before, when he was taken into custody on the technical charge of being in the camp after his pass had expired.

He related the circumstances today to a Post-Dispatch reporter as follows:

"I installed the machine in October when the camp was under construction, and while I was there I took a number of photographs of the camp and of the hospital.

"I was called back there early in December, and received a pass for four days, which was the time I thought it would take to repair the machine. The time required was longer and my pass expired. I was taken into custody, and in addition to being questioned about the pass, I was examined about the photographs I had taken. I had told an army officer that I had photographs of the camp.

"When I took the photographs I was in the company of an army Captain, and he also was present when they were developed. The secret service men sent to St. Louis and my wife sent the plates. When they arrived I was released and returned to St. Louis."

WARNING SURRENDERS BOOKS AND RECORDS OF HIS OFFICE

Auditor Eckert Made Custodian Temporarily of St. Clair County Funds.

Fred Warning, ousted Treasurer of St. Clair County, turned over all the records of the office today to County Auditor Eckert, who was made custodian pending the induction into office of Otto C. Weibert, Warning's successor for the unexpired term.

Weibert will take charge of the office Monday afternoon. His surety bond for $625,000 has been approved. He will ask the banks of the country to bid for the county funds, which will be deposited with the bank which offers to pay the highest interest. Heretofore the treasurer has deposited the funds at a bank of his own choosing, to his personal account, and the county has received no interest, except in the case of the road bonds fund, for which 2 per cent is being received. If Warning turns over all that the books show is due the county Weibert will have $455,638.32 to place at interest.

BRITISH TRADES UNIONS WANT COMPULSORY RATIONING

Convention Criticises Government Food Control—Policy Plays Into Hands of American Ring, Delegate Says.

LONDON, Dec. 29.—The national convention of the Trades Unions, Labor Party and War Emergency Workers adopted resolutions today protesting against "The sufferings now being unnecessarily inflicted upon the mass of Urban consumers by the prolonged delay of the Government in organizing an equitable system of distribution of the supplies of food" and demanding equal sharing among all families, without distinction as to wealth or class, with compulsory rationing.

The Government's methods of controlling the food situation were criticised severely at today's session of the Labor Congress.

Speaking to a resolution on this subject, Robert Smillie, leared of the miners, said.

"I hope the Government will take it that we put this forward as a grave warning to them. If they do not carry out at once the spirit of the resolution they may take it for granted that the workers of the country are no longer going to stand having their wives and children waiting outside shop-doors, almost begging for food to be sold to them."

"The whole policy of the Government," declared Bevan of the dock-workers' union, had been to "play into the hands of the American ring. "Talk of food control—there will soon be nothing left to control," he said.

FREIGHTER SUNK BY U-BOAT

Reports of Sinking of Vinovia Off British Isles Confirmed.

NEW YORK, Dec. 29.—Officials of the Cunard Line here today confirmed previously published reports of the sinking by a German submarine of the steamship Vinovia off the British Isles.

The Vinovia was a freight carrying vessel of 5500 tons gross. She was built in Sunderland in 1906.

12,000 Sailors Get New Year's Leave.

CHICAGO, Dec. 29.—Twelve thousand of the jackies at the Great Lakes naval training station departed today on special trains to spend New Year's day at their homes. Twelve thousand who were granted Christmas leave returned last night.

Mayor-Elect Hylan Takes Oath.

NEW YORK, Dec. 29.—Mayor-elect John F. Hylan took the oath of office today. He will succeed Mayor Mitchel Jan. 1.

FACTORY FOREMAN ACCUSED OF MAKING TORPEDOES USELESS

Naturalized Germaan, Said to Have Tampered With Gyroscopes, Held on Treason Charge.

NEW YORK, Dec. 29.—Paul Hennig, a naturalized German, who has been employed as a foreman in a Brooklyn factory engaged in the making of torpedoes for the United States Government, was remanded to jail without bail in Federal Court here today, charged with treason.

Hennig, authorities say, superintended the assembling of the gyroscopes which control the course of the torpedoes. According to District Attorney France, some of these gyroscopes have been found "maliciously mutilated." This was done in such a way as to render useless the torpedoes in which the gyroscopes were installed.

"Not only would these torpedoes have been worthless as weapons, but it is possible they would have proved engines of destruction for their own users," said the District Attorney.

BALLOON MISSING 36 HOURS; PILOTED BY PAUL M'CULLOUGH

St. Louisan's Aircraft May Be Far Into Mexico, Is Opinion of Maj. Lambert.

SAN ANTONIO, Tex., Dec. 29.—After 36 hours no word has been received from the balloon sent up here at midnight Thursday, carrying Capt. Paul McCullough of St. Louis, instructor, and several students. The balloon drifted in a southwesterly direction at a rapid rate after ascension and in the opinion of Maj. Lambert, may be far below the border, in Mexico, or even have been lost in the Gulf of Mexico, though the latter probability is deemed a slight one.

HOOVER WILL TESTIFY AT SUGAR INQUIRY WEDNESDAY

Chairman Reed Sends Telegram to Food Administrator—Coal Hearing Continued.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 29.—Food Administrator Hoover, now in New York, was requested by telegraph tonight to appear next Wednesday before the Senate committee investigating the sugar situation. The telegram was sent by Chairman Reed. Hoover replied that he would appear at the appointed time.

Last week when Hoover made several futile attempts to get a hearing before the committee it was said he was delaying an important business trip to New York. Since then his statement on the sugar situation has been made public by the White House.

3 BRITISH DESTROYERS SUNK; 193 MEN PERISH

Vessels Either Struck Mines or Were Torpedoed Off Dutch Coast on Night of Dec. 22.

LONDON, Dec. 29.—Three British torpedo boat destroyers were sunk through being struck by torpedoes or hitting mines off the Dutch coast on the night of Dec. 22, with the loss of 13 officers and 180 men, the Admiralty announced today.

The statement reads:

"Three of our destroyers were mined or torpedoed during foggy weather off the Dutch coast on the night of the 22d of December. A total of 13 officers and 180 men were lost."

EXHIBIT COMPANY SAID TO WANT LEASE ON SOUTHERN HOTEL

New Corporation Is Seeking Building for Display of Manufacturing Machinery.

Articles of incorporation were filed yesterday by the Exhibit Corporation, with a capital of $750,000 fully paid. The incorporators are William P. Launtz, W. A. Richardson, Lewis Lipman Jr., and W. P. Smith.

It is understood the company is negotiating with the Allen estate to lease the old Southern Hotel building with the intention of converting it into an exhibit place for manufacturing machinery.

Failing to obtain this building, it is understood, other downtown quarters will be obtained.

WITNESS OUTLINES NEW LAWS WANTED BY SHIPPING BOARD

One Is Authorization to Declare Territory Surrounding Ship Yards as War Zone.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 29.—An outline of legislation wanted by the Shipping Board to provide additional powers for speeding up construction of the new merchant fleet, was given yesterday by former Rear Admiral Bowles, assistant to the general manager of the Emergency Fleet Corporation, testifying at the Senate committee's inquiry into the shipping situation.

Among other things, Bowles said the board desired authorization to declare as a war zone the territory surrounding ship yards, as well as to commandeer houses and local transportation facilities so as to better take care of workmen at the plants.

He also suggested that Congress should protect ship builders from the operations of the war excess profits tax law, or at least modify its provisions insofar as it pertains to them. Operation of the law is now so uncertain, he explained, that the board is having great difficulty in placing contracts at a reasonable price, as the builders claim they will have practically nothing left from the profits on the ships after paying the tax.

Canadian Flyer Killed in Texas.

FORT WORTH, Texas, Dec. 29.—Lieut. R. Cuthbert, a member of the Royal Flying Corps, was killed at Benbrook when his machine fell a distance of several hundred feet. He died from a fractured skull.

RAILWAYS REFUSE WAGE RAISE AND PUT IT UP TO U. S.

Announcement of Rejection of Demand of Forty Per Cent Increase Followed by Men's Statement They Had Agreed to Wait for Thirty Days.

Officials of Lines Intimate They Think Investors Will Demand Government Ownership as Sequel to Federal Control.

Suggestion That Director-General Shall Supervise Marketing of Securities—Operating Committee Called to Capital.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 29.—The railroads have definitely refused the demand of their organized employes for a 40 per cent increase in pay and have turned entire responsibility over to the Government.

At the same time it was learned that the railway workers had decided not to press their request for a period of at least 30 days, or until it is seen just what the railroad situation will be.

The railway executives here today, in letting their decision be known, made no concealement of their belief that Government operation is a step toward Government ownership and made clear they thought the public and the stockholders would demand it.

One of the plans under consideration for handling railroad finances is the formation of a Government corporation under the Director General of Railroads to buy and market railroad securities.

Operating Men Called In.

The Railroad War Board today directed the operating committee of Eastern railroads with headquarters at Pittsburg to remove immediately to Washington to sit here with the board.

The board, composed of five of the nation's foremost railroad executives, who have been in control of roads since April, now will be enabled to effect the pooling of traffic heretofore impossible under the antitrust laws.

The board's retention as operating head of the railroads for the present was announced yesterday after members had conferred with Director McAdoo, who instructed them to continue their functions and submit immediately a plan for directing traffic.

Order to Speed Up Freight.

Later, Mr. McAdoo issued his first formal order designed to speed up the freight movement. He instructed all railroads to move shipments by the shortest routes, and ordered them to continue operation of their lines to conform with President Wilson's proclamation putting them under Government control.

Director McAdoo did not indicate whether he intended to displace the War Board eventually, but it was made clear that it would continue until he decides that a better plan can be devised. All the War Board's Committees including the operating committee of the Eastern roads, headed by A. W. Thompson, of the Baltimore & Ohio, were drafted into service. The Director-General retained the Board's Car Service Committee which is assisting the Interstate Commerce Commission in distributing cars.

McAdoo spent today assembling a staff of advisers and executive officers to assist him in administering the railroads as a national unit. He conferred with John Barton Payne, counsel for the Shipping Board and Interstate Commerce Commissioner Anderson. An announcement of his plans is expected soon.

War Board Is at Work.

The railroads' war board went to work on a general scheme of operation. A few reports reaching here today told of first efforts by local railway officials to hald freight by shortest routes, as requested by the Director-General in his first telegram to railway heads.

A cold wave accompanied by snow in many localities probably would prevent a noticeable improvement in freight congestion under Government operation for a week or more, officials said.

As another measure to relieve congestion the War Board members urged elimination of some forms of traffic and it is intimated that denial of transportation to commodities considered non-essential may follow. This subject will be left largely to Judge Robert S. Lovett, Government Director of Priority. Appointment of a Government Traffic Manager to co-operate preferential shipments of the food and fuel administrations and the quartermaster's corps also is under consideration.

Shipper Can't Choose Route.

The order that freight move by the most expeditious routes opens the way for a pooling of traffic impossible heretofore by reason of statutes designed to prevent the practice by carriers operated under private direction. It takes from the shipper the right to route his freight as he wishes and leaves to the railroad traffic manager the task of sending it most directly and where there is least congestion.

The order of Director-General McAdoo follows:

"Having assumed the duties imposed upon me by and in pursuance of the proclamation of the President, date Dec. 26, 1917, you will until otherwise ordered continue the operation of your road in conformity with said proclamation. You are requested to make every possible effort to increase efficiency and to move traffic by the most convenient and expeditious routes. I confidently count on your hearty co-operation. It is only through united effort, unselfish service and effective work that this war can be won and America's future be secured."

Pooling to Be Far-Reaching.

Although Mr. McAdoo does not believe a complete unification of all rail systems can be brought about over night even with legal restrictions lifted, he fully expects measures taken under Government control will remove some of the obstacles that now prevent the rapid movement of freight. Members of the War Board were requested to study the situation and report on any measures to relieve congestion they think might wisely be put into force.

Pooling of railroad equipment, already started by the War Board, will be carried much further under Government operation. Common use especially will be made of terminal facilities and Mr. McAdoo has asked the War Board for a special report on terminal facilities and the extent to which they may be pooled.

There is a question as to whether the great mass of railway employes in the country—nearly 2,000,000 in number—now become Government employes. Some offficials hold that they do not on the ground that the Government in assuming control of the railroads is only super-imposing its authority on them and that as the roads are owned now as before, by their stockholders, railroad employes are still employes of the owners of the roads.

There is considerable speculation as to the Government's policy respecting the means of raising funds to reimburse the roads, if operating revenues under Government control fall off. This can be done by paying the deficit out of the treasury, or by raising freight rates. The railroads are anxious that rates be raised. Their position is that if the properties are run at a loss they will, at the end of the war, be forced to resume private operation on a basis that will not give them revenues enough to pay expenses. The disposition of Government officials apparently is to agree with them in this respect.

Senate to Continue Inquiry.

The Senate Interstate Commerce Committee today decided to continue its plan to investigate the railroad situation under the Cummins Amendment. Members of the committee agreed that the investigation would be purely academic, but decided that any information obtained would be of benefit in considering legislation to carry out recommendations by the President in his forthcoming address.

What scope the investigation will take was not decided upon, but members of Interstate Commerce Commission, as well as representatives of the railroads will be called.

NIAGARA FALLS POWER SEIZED

Government Assures Adequate Supply for War Work.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 29.—To assure an adequate supply of electric power for establishments engaged in war work at Niagara Falls and Buffalo, the Government today requisitioned the electric power produced, imported and distributed by the Niagara Falls Power Co., the Hydraulic Power Co. of Niagara Falls, and the Cliff Electrical Distributing Co.

Operation of mills is not expected to be affected materially by the new order as readjustment of the power supply had been effected previously by representatives of the War Industries Board conferring with the Buffalo manufacturers.

FULL STORY TOLD OF HOW U. S. SHIPS SANK SUBMARINE

Destroyers Fanning and Nicholson Were Vessels Engaged in Fight of Nov. 24.

CREW WAS CAPTURED

Two American Sailors Jumped Overboard to Save Drowning German.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 29.—Full details of the destruction by American destroyers of a German submarine and the capture of its crew made public today by the Navy Department show that the destroyers Fanning and Nicholson were the warships engaged. The incident was reported Nov. 24 but few facts were given at the time.

The submarine was sunk, the Navy Department's story of the affair indicates, as it was preparing to attack a merchant ship flotilla convoyed by the destroyers.

Full Story of Incident.

The Navy Department's full story of the incident follows:

"At about 4:10 p. m., while escorting a convoy, Coxswain David D. Loomis, lookout of the Fanning, sighted a small periscope some distance off the port bow, extending about a foot out of water and visible for only a few seconds. The Fanning immediately headed for the spot and about three minutes after the periscope had been sighted dropped a depth charge. The Nicholson also speeded to the position of the submarine, which appeared to be heading toward a merchant vessel in the convoy, and dropped another depth charge. At that moment the submarine's conning tower appeared on the surface between the Nicholson and the convoy, and the Nicholson fired three shots from her stern gun. The bow of the submarine came up rapidly. She was down by the stern, but righted herself and seemed to increase her speed. The Nicholson cleared, the Fanning headed for the U-boat, firing from the bow gun. After the third shot the crew of the submarine all came on deck and held up their hands, the submarine surrendering at 4:28 p. m.

"The Fanning approached the submarine to pick up the prisoners, both destroyers keeping their batteries trained on the boat.

"A line was got to the submarine but in a few minutes she sank, the line was let go and the crew of the U-boat jumped into the water and swam to the Fanning.

39 Men Taken Prisoners.

"Although the crew all wore life preservers, the statement continues, "a number of them were exhausted when they reached the side of the destroyer. As the submarine sank five or six men were caught by the radio aerial and carried down below the surface before they disentangled themselves. Ten of the men were so weak that lines had to be passed under their arms to haul them aboard. One man was in such a condition that he could not even hold the line thrown him. Chief Pharmacist's Mate Elzer Harwell and Coxswain Francis G. Connor (N. N. V.) jumped overboard after this man and secured a line under his arms. When he was hauled aboard every effort was made to resuscitate him, but he died in a few minutes. The four officers of the submarine and the 35 members of the crew were all taken prisoners.

"After being taken on board the prisoners were given hot coffee and sandwiches. Though kept under strict guard they seemed contented and after a short time commenced to sing. To make them comfortable the crew of the destroyer gave them their warm coats and heavy clothing.

"The German officers said the first depth charge had wrecked the machinery of the submarine and caused her to sink to a considerable depth.

"The submarine bore no number or distinguishing mark. She was, however, identified by life belts and by statements of an officer and men of the crew. One of the life belts, the reports said, had 'Kaiser' marked on one side and 'Gott' on the other.

Germans Give Three Cheers.

"The Fanning proceeded to port and transferred her prisoners under guard. As they were leaving in small boats the Germans gave three cheers.

"The commanding officer of the Fanning read the burial service over the body of the dead German sailor and the destroyer proceeded to sea and buried him with full military honors.

"In his report the commander of the Fanning praises the conduct of his officers and crew and gives particular credit to Lieut. Walter O. Henry, officer of the deck and to Coxwain Loomis, who sighted the periscope. He also commends Pharmacist's Mate Harwell and Coxswain Connor, who jumped overboard to save the drowning German.

"The British Commander in Chief, under which the destroyers were operating, said this in his report to the British Admiralty:

"'The whole affair reflects credit on the discipline and training of the United States flotilla,' and added that the incident showed that the Fanning is a man-of-war in the best sense of the term, well disciplined and organized and ready for immediate action. He also praises her commander, Lieut. A. S. Carpenter, and commends Lieut. Henyr, Coxswain Loomis, Pharmacist's Mate Harwell and Coxswain Connor. The British Admiral also commended the prompt action of the Nicholson, which he says completed the success of its sister ship. The Nicholson was commanded by Lieut. G. H. Fort. The British admiralty sent a telegram to the Commander in Chief, directing him to express to the commanding officer, officers and men of the Fanning its high appreciation of their successful action against enemy submarines.

"Vice Admiral Sims, commanding the American forces operating in European waters, commend the officers and men of the Fanning and Nicholson. Coxswain Loomis was advanced to the next higher rating in recognition of his vigilance in sighting the periscope."

U. S. PASSENGER SHIP GUNNERS REPORT THEY SANK U-BOAT

LONDON, Dec. 29.—A German submarine was sunk by the fire of guns of an American passenger steamer approaching the British coast Thursday, according to reports of the passengers and gunners aboard.

The ship was proceeding at full speed about noon in a very smooth sea. A periscope was sighted by the watch on the bridge and the submarine was seen plainly by the passengers as it came to the surface about 1500 yards in the wake of the ship.

The steamer was brought about sharply and the two guns fired with only an interval of two seconds between shots. When the second shell exploded the debris from the submarine was seen flying in the air. Afterward no trace of the submarine was visible. The convoy signaled to the liner: "A direct hit."

The watch on the bridge and the gunners and passengers confirm this verdict. No trace of a torpedo was seen.

Prohibition Among Troops Favored by Gen. Pershing

Commander Explains Why Recent Overseas Order Was Drawn So It Permitted Light Wine and Beer.

WITH THE AMERICAN ARMY IN FRANCE, Friday, Dec. 28.—Gen. Pershing, in an interview with correspondents today, said the question of prohibiting the sale of all intoxicating liquors to American troops, which he favors, is being discussed with the French Government. He explained his recent order prohibiting the sale of all intoxicants except light wine and beer and the conditions prevailing in France which caused it to be drawn as it was.

"The question of prohibiting the sale of all intoxicants to American troops is under discussion with the French Government," said Gen. Pershing, "but of course there are difficulties here in France that do not exist in the United States. The general order issued Dec. 18 was a long step toward the prevention of drinking among our men.

"It was not by any means intended to convey an injunction to the American troops to drink light wine and beer, but quite the reverse. It was drawn to conform to French regulations on the subject.

"It stated only that light wine and beer would be permitted and prohibited the purchase of and acceptance of gifts of whisky, brandy, champagne or similar beverages. It ordered that all drinking places where such articles are sold be forbidden American soldiers. It is the same regulation made in France by the British army and by the French.

"Although I am heartily in favor of prohibiting for the American expeditionary force, the situation in France and the United States is not the same. Comparatively few French people drink water as we do; they drink wine instead. This is partly because the French water supply is not as pure as ours. French wine is light and much less intoxicating than is generally supposed. An intoxicated Frenchman is a rare sight indeed.

"French beer also is by no means strong. The French Government issues to its soldiers a regular wine ration. Obviously there are obstables to forbidding wine shops in the zone of the army to do business at all, which practically is what the French would have to do. Local sentiment will play a large part in the determination of the questions.

"The same order which forbade soldiers taking strong drink contained the most rigid regulations to prevent the spread of the social diseases. The two questions are connected closely. Thus far the record of the army in both respects has been most excellent. It is highly gratifying to me and is a testimonial to the high character of the American soldier. Everything possible is being done to protect his morals and his health and to make him an honor to himself and his countrymen."

Gen. Pershing and French Authorities Discuss Prohibition Measure.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 29.—Prohibition of the sale of intoxicants of any description to members of the American expeditionary forces is under discussion between Gen. Pershing and the French authorities. The War Department announced today it had been so advised by Gen. Pershing who, in order to clear up apparent misunderstanding at home called the text of his recent order forbidding American soldiers to buy or accept as gifts any intoxicants other than light wines or beer.

The order already has been published in this country in press dispatches. The department's statement adds:

"The department is advised by Gen. Pershing that since there is little beer sold in France the men are thus limited to the light native wines used by the French people. The use of these is being discouraged by the commanding General in every possible way."

Fourth Day of Heavy Snow in American Training Area Abroad.

By Associated Press.

WITH THE AMERICAN ARMY IN FRANCE, Friday, Dec. 28.—Still another day of howling snowstorm—the fourth—saw virtually the entire American expeditionary force within the army zone abandon preparations to battle the Germans and begin a fight to keep from being snowed under. All last night and throughout today the flakes fell, choking the roads and badly delaying traffic.

By nightfall the roads were in such shape that plows were brought out to keep the way clear. Soon after dark the sky cleared and a full moon came out, bathing the entire country in light almost as bright as day and making conditions ideal for air raids. There were low-hanging clouds on the horizon, however, giving promise of more snow.

Virtually all training work was called off today, but will be resumed tomorrow unless more heavy snow makes it impossible.

TURKS ARE DRIVEN BACK 2 1-2 MILES NEAR JERUSALEM

British Report Gains on Nine-Mile Front Northeast of City.

LONDON, Dec. 29.—The British troops in Palestine have repulsed a Turkish attack north and northwest of Jerusalem and made an advance of two and one-half miles on a front of nine miles along the Turkish right flank, says an official communication. The announcement says:

"During Wednesday night four attacks were made by the enemy on our pickets at Ras El Tawil, 3½ miles north of Jerusalem and east of Birnebala, five miles northwest of Jerusalem. The pickets were driven in and several determined attacks followed, all of which we repulsed without loss of ground.

"At Tham our troops on the left attacked against the right flank of the Turkish flank and gained ground east and northeast penetrating to about 2½ miles on a frontage of nine miles. The attack of the enemy was made with very great determination and his losses were proportionately severe.

"The British troops, both in defense and attack, showed the utmost gallantry and staunchness. Some German prisoners were taken.

"Our flying corps effectively attacked in the vicinity of Kulundria, six miles north of Jerusalem, enemy troops and transport, with bombs and machine gun fire.

PEORIA BANKER HELD IN JAIL ON MURDER CHARGE

Coroner's Jury Finds Berne Meade Came to Death at Hands of Edgar A. Strause.

PEORIA, Ill., Dec. 29.—Edgar A. Strause, formerly president of the State Trust and Savings Bank, has been placed in the Peoria county jail, charged with the murder of Berne Meade, cashier of the bank, who was shot to death last Sunday while in the bank with Strause. A Coroner's jury found that Meade came to his death at the hands of Strause, and a Coroner's warrant for Strause was issued later.

Strause was shown no special courtesies at the jail. He was ordered clad in the regulation jail garments of blue overalls and a jumper. The former bank president, who contends that he shot Meade in self-defense, after the cashier had fired at him during a quarrel over the sale of some stock in the bank, expressed no surprise at the verdict of the Coroner's jury.

HEAD OF RAILWAY MISSION TELLS OF RUSSIAN SITUATION

John F. Stevens Says He Believes Allies and America Should Continue Their Aid.

CONDITIONS ARE CHAOTIC

Gives Warning Against Allowing Germany to Finance and Advise Russian Peasants.

TOKIO, Thursday, Dec. 27.—John F. Stevens, chief American Railway Commissioner to Russia, arrived at Nagasaki on Dec. 19 from Vladivostok. He has taken a hotel in Nagasaki for the 320 members of his staff.

In a statement to the Associated Press Stevens said he expected soon to return to Russia to prosecute the proposed work of assisting in the reorganization of Russian rail communications. He denied the report that he was returning to America.

The commission is composed of many of America's best railway engineers, and their absence from America involves a sacrifice of home interests, but Stevens regards the Russian situation as one of the most important in the world. He said:

"The demand on America by the European war frout is important, but the Russian situation is trebly important, as it involves the return of a million and a half German and Austrian effectives and gives unlimited possibilities to the German organization of Russia's resources and man power.

Condition Is Chaotic.

"Russia, at present, presents a completely chaotic condition, permeated by the most clever German propaganda, in every way and everywhere, among all classes of the people. Nevertheless, I believe the better judgment of the mass of the people will be asserted and Germany will not succeed in forcing a separate peace. Such a peace cannot be concluded if the allies promptly give their help and suggestions.

"The Maximalists now in control are much stronger than generally credited. In any future reorganization or attempts at a stable Government the Maximalists must be considered and handled rightly.

"The chaos is most evident in the manufactories and railway shops where the Workmen's and Soldiers' Delegates are in control. They work or not as they please, and everywhere may be seen workmen loafing. Women are doing much of the work in the shops, along the railway tracks and in the fields, and even acting as brakemen. Where one woman is working 500 men are loafing.

"A hundred thousand soldiers are crowding the stations attempting the management of the trains and supporting themselves on a small daily allowance, to which they add by thievery and smuggling.

Peasants Holding Wheat.

"The railways and all other industries are operating at only 30 per cent of their effective power. Food is plentiful but is not being distributed. The peasants are holding a three years' stock of wheat and other staples, but refuse to sell because the ruble has greatly depreciated in value or is regarded by them with suspicion.

"The Government evidently is unable to commandeer food and a famine threatens, for which the peasants largely are responsible. There also is a coal famine, and the production is only one-third of the normal because the miners are refusing to work.

"At Vladivostok the supplies of all kinds are carefully guarded. The port authorities have erected large warehouses and there is not much deterioration in the supplies. The Bolsheviki are in possession and the soldiers maintain order, but laborers are uneasy at the prospect that the continuation of the good conditions is uncertain.

Outcome Rests on Peasants.

"Siberia is not so much disturbed as Russia, and it is the people's desire to support any government appearing to be stable. The uncertainty in Russia rests in the vast preponderance of the 130,000,000 persons in the peasant class. If Germany is allowed to finance and advise them the situation is lost."

Stevens said that everywhere he found the people well disposed toward America. Even when soldiers stopped his special car and entered it they apologized and withdrew on learning that the passengers were Americans. The American influence is strong, possibly stronger than that of the allies, and Stevens thinks it now should be exerted to the utmost, but that the application of physical force in any degree is not advisable. In conclusion, Stevens said:

"Not for a moment should the allies relax their sympathy and help, but on the contrary should quadruple their efforts. The best sentiment in Russia is with us, but the question is how to give in such a manner as to maintain the sympathy of the intelligent classes and offset the German influence. We should earnestly beg the allies not to punish the Russian people, who love their country, nor to abandon them to the Germans.

"We are going back and will stay there as long as we can be of any assistance to the Russian people."

Trucks to Displace Trains for Mail.

PITTSBURG, Pa., Dec. 29.—Motor trucks are to displace railroad trains as mail carriers on two long routes out of Pittsburg as soon as the contracts can be let, according to an announcement by Postmaster A. S. Guffy. One line will connect Pittsburg and Wheeling, W. Va., and the other will connect Pittsburg and Cumberland, Md.

RUSSIA RECEIVES GERMANY'S PEACE REPLY FAVORABLY

People Dispirited and Willing to Accept Any Terms, London Correspondent Says.

LITTLE NEWS FROM ALLIES

Germans and Their Newspapers Seen Throughout Petrograd—Language Freely Talked.

LONDON, Dec. 29.—Special dispatches from Petrograd bearing date of Thursday aim to give an impression of how the German peace reply was received there, but the statements are inexplicit and seem to be based partly on surmise. The reply, according to the correspondent of the Daily News, created a favorable impression, generally, and he believes that if the Bolsheviki convene the Constituent Assembly now they will have Russia almost solidly behind them.

Representing the people as dispirited and indifferent owing to the miserable conditions of life, including the food shortage, the correspondent of the Morning Post says that as far as Northern Russia is concerned it will accept peace on any terms the Germans may like to impose. How the remainder of Russia will act, he adds, is another question. The correspondent of the Times is of the opinion that the Bolsheviki are disheartened over the German refusal to allow nationalities hitherto without political independence to decide their own future. He says that as the Russian delegates will adhere to this demand it is likely to be a serious stumbling block to further negotiations.

German News Predominates.

The Russian frontier, according to the Post's correspondent, again has been closed to British and Americans, owing to the continued disputes concerning Government messages. The last British messenger arrived several weeks late and no messengers are leaving. Residents in Petrograd like the ordinary public, have been six weeks in complete ignorance of what is happening in allied countries. The ordinary postal service stopped working long ago. On the other hand, there is plenty of German newspapers and information.

Petrograd, the correspondent adds, is full of Germans who speak the Berlin dialect loudly, the Russians not protesting. In general, he says, the feeling of the allied residents in Northern Russia at the present moment finds its nearest parallel in that of the European residents in Pekin during the boxer troubles. He quotes a representative of one of the allies as saying to him last week:

"We shall put up with any affront to keep Russia in the war."

The Post's correspondent adds that affronts to the allied diplomats have been lacking.

Rival Ukrainian Rada.

It is reported that the Bolsheviki at Kiev are trying to establish a rival Ukrainian Rada to be composed of workmen and peasants. A Congress of Workmen's and Soldiers' Delegates held in Kharov has declared itself the supreme power in the Ukraine, deposing the Ukrainian Rada.

The Ukrainian military commander at Kiev has requested Ensign Krylenko, the Bolsheviki Commander in Chief, to release a number of Ukrainian officers and soldiers he arrested at Minsk, Pskoff and elsewhere. A reply was demanded within 48 hours.

The Izvestia, the organ of the Workmen's and Soldier's delegates, dealing with the peace proposals of Count Czernin, says:

"Without attaching too much value to the concessions in principle made by the Central Powers, let us look for the result in an acute economic crisis and discontent among the masses of the Central Powers. These conditions allow us to hope for a democratic peace."

The Pravda considers that the refusal of the Central Powers to discuss the question of nationalities which were not independent before the war as an international question proves they are afraid to examine into the question of the position of those nationalities from the point of view of the right of nations freely to decide their own destinies.

"But then," the Pravda adds, "How can they bring forward the question of Courland, Poland and Lithuania, which from their point of view ought to be regarded as questions of the internal life of Russia."

Pan-German Newspapers Condemn Peace Terms of Teutons.

AMSTERDAM, Dec. 29.—Pan-German newspapers angrily condemn the peace terms of the Central Powers. The Taglische Rundschau of Berlin says:

"Never before have we given up so completely everything we so dearly bought with the blood of hundreds of thousands, with the sweat of millions, with the deprivations of our children, with our own hunger."

The Deutsche Zeitung says that the Entente has won the greatest victory of the war and that diplomats have destroyed all that has been fought for.

The Koelnische Zeitung, on the other hand, regards the conditions as opening the road to a peace advantageous to all sides. The Lokal Anzeiger thinks that the German answer to Russia will not be much to the taste of people with military leanings, but adds:

"The outlines, however, are drawn wide enough to give scope for demands of justice. Definite judgment upon the peace work at Brest-Litovsk depends on how far this possibility is utilized in later negotiations."

The Rheinische Westfalische Zeitung, organ of the Krupps, declares that the Entente Allies will regret the principles set forth at Brest-Litovsk, and argues that the political abandonment of Belgium by Germany must be conditional on the British evacuation of Egypt which would revert to Turkey in accordance with the desire of its population.

REPUBLIC IN WHITE RUSSIA

LONDON, Dec. 28.—The establishment of a republic in White Russia has been announced, according to Petrograd advices today.

A Rada, or legislative body, for the territory has been assembled at Minsk, at which place a decree will be issued proclaiming the independence of the State.

German Editor Held as Spy.

MONTGOMERY, Ala., Dec. 28.—Gustav Deppe, former editor of a publication called Germania, at Rockfort, Ill. was turned over to the United States Marshal here today by the military police of Camp Sheridan, who had been holding him as a suspected spy for more than a month. It was announced that the Department of Justice had instructed that he be held for the present.

TROTZKY TO ASK ALLIES FOR VIEWS ON PEACE TERMS

Wants to Know Whether Entente Supports German or Russian Proposals.

LONDON, Dec. 29.—Leon Trotzky, the Bolshevik Foreign Minister, according to a special dispatch from Petrograd Thursday, informed the Workmen's and Soldiers' Council that he would officially ask the Entente Powers whether they intended to support the Russian or the German peace proposals, or whether they would propose some alternative terms. If the Entente Allies refused to join in the negotiations within 10 days, Russia would be forced to conclude a separate peace. Trotzky added that Germany having announced her readiness to free the occupied territories, the allies should not refuse to negotiate.

Russia will insist that the principles of self-government should be applied to the territories and colonies seized during the war. In particular Alsace-Lorraine and the populations of the German colonies should be asked, their opinion and given their choice of a form of government.

Berlin Papers Say Warsaw Will Be Scene of Negotiations.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 29.—Dispatches from Berne quote Berlin newspapers as saying that the peace negotiations between the Germans and the Russian Bolsheviki will be continued at Warsaw, because Brest-Litovsk does not offer sufficient accommodations for those attending the conference.

LIFE TERM FOR INSTRUCTOR WHO KILLED WOMAN TEACHER

Morris P. Bradford, Who Had Made Insanity Claim, Pleads Guilty to Murder.

LACONIA, N. H., Dec. 29.—Morris P. Bradford, who shot and killed Miss Alice B. Richards, and wounded two other teachers at the New Hampshire School for the Feeble Minded on June 28, yesterday pleaded guilty to first degree murder and was sentenced to prison for life. He had previously pleaded not guilty by reason of insanity.

Bradford was manual training instructor at the school and occupied a cottage on the school grounds near the shore of Lake Winnisquam. He had complained of being melancholy and home sick and to cheer him Miss Richards, head teacher at the school, Miss Elizabeth Suess, assistant matron and Miss Dorothy Davis, a teacher, went to his cottage on June 28 to take supper with him.

Late that night Bradford paddled in his canoe across the lake and gave himself up to the police. On his way to the police station he called Dr. Benjamin W. Baker, superintendent of the school, and told him to go down to the cottage. Dr. Baker found Miss Richards dead and Miss Suess and Miss Davis severely injured.

Miss Suess and Miss Davis, who recovered from their wounds, said that after supper Bradford tied the three women in chairs, telling them he was going to teach them a new kind of game, and then attacked them with a knife, cutting their hair close to their heads and beating them with a club. The motive of the attack has never been announced by the prosecuting officials.

CAMPS SHORT OF CLOTHING AND GUNS GENERALS TESTIFY

Health Conditions Formerly Bad, but Have Improved, They Tell Senators.

GEN. WRIGHT ON STAND

Camp Funston Men Brought Sickness to Doniphan, Commandant of Latter Declares.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 29.—Disease epidemics and clothing and equipment shortages at Camp Bowie, Tex., and Camp Doniphan, Okla., were described to the Senate Military Committee yesterday by the respective commanders of those National Guard cantonments, Major-Generals Greble and Wright.

Each officer said the epidemic at his post now was under control and that adequate supplies of overcoats had been received, but each gave a dismal picture of earlier conditions. Each told, too, of enormous shortages of rifles, machine guns and other equipment still existing, but food has been plentiful and of good quality.

The clothing situation was further investigated by the committee today with Quartermaster-General Sharpe under examination.

Senator Weeks brought out that on April 3 Boston wool dealers offered all their wool to the Government at prevailing prices, but the offer never reached Gen. Sharpe, being referred to the General Munitions Board.

Price of Wool Advanced.

When orders were given to prepare to clothe 1,000,000 more men Gen. Sharpe said soaring prices, rather than a shortage, was the worst factor in the situation.

"I was told by a responsible man that the failure of the Government to accept the Boston wool men's offer of April 3 has cost the Government $150,000,000," said Senator Weeks, "and I want to find out who is responsible for delay in its acceptance and also who is responsible for delay in beginning purchasse."

Gen. Sharpe insisted that there was no unnecessary delay and that the council had to thoroughly study the new subject and organize, necessitating great care and consideration.

Although all the men at Camp Doniphan now are well clothed, Gen. Wright said his command still was short for overseas service. However, he felt confident he would get sufficient clothing upon starting for Europe.

Most of the men at the camp are under canvas, the witness said, but the tents are well floored and are heated "too well."

Doniphan Death Rate Low.

Gen. Wright said the death rate was low, averaging only about one a day, while the sick rate was not large considering that many cases of measles were brought to camp by draft men from Camp Funston.

Most of the pneumonia cases at Camp Doniphan, Gen. Wright said, are a result of measles. Army officers were not surprised at the amount of sickness, he added, especially measles. Meningitis and scarlet fever, however, were unexpected developments.

Gen. Wright said his troops had not used broomsticks or wooden rifles. He did not agree with Gen. Crozier's view that men could be trained sufficiently with only half having rifles and taking turns in their use. Training with Lewis machine guns, even if the new Browning guns are later used in actual fighting, the officer said, would be valuable in teaching men the handling of the arms and general type of mechanism. He disclaimed any knowledge of the comparative merits of the two guns, but said he intended to teach his men to shoot.

Shortages at Camp Bowie.

Gen. Wright was followed by Gen. Greble, who gave shortages in equipment at the camp on Dec. 23 as follows:

"Rifles, 59 per cent; bayonets, 65 per cent; pistols, 86 per cent; cartridge belts, 59 per cent; automatic rifles, 88 per cent; three-inch guns, 88 per cent; artillery harness, 92 per cent; haversacks, etc., 78 per cent, and artillery ammunition, 90 per cent. The command has no machine guns, trench mortars, line grenades, six-inch howitzers and one-inch cannon.

"This shortage delays training," Gen. Greble said, "but he added that the handicap was not serious. He believed the shortages due to sending of equipment abroad.

Gen. Greble agreed with Gen. Wright that it was highly desirable to have ample rifles, but said target practice was proceeding well, despite the rifle shortage.

Camp Bowie is not now short of overcoats, Gen. Greble said, but all men were not equipped until Dec. 23, after a cold spell had set in.

Out of 1433 transport pieces needed, Gen. Greble said he had only 363, including 362 wagons and one motor car. No bicycles, motor cycles, motor trucks and many similar vehicles have been received.

Some of the blankets received, he said, were rather flimsy, probably bought in an emergency.

Camp's Sick Rate High.

Regarding health conditions, Gen. Greble said the camp had unfortunately had high sick rates.

"For a time we had about 16 deaths a day," he said. "Measles and pneumonia were the principal causes."

In November, 8000 men, or one-third of his command, passed through the hospital, which was built to accommodate 800 men. At one time there were 1800 men in it and at that time the sewerage system had not been completed.

"That made their care very inadequate," he said, and added that the hospital personnel was not sufficient.

Health conditions since, Gen. Greble said, have improved, only 810 being reported sick Dec. 23.

Gen. Greble said that early in September he wrote Surgeon-General Gorgas, Quartermaster-General Sharpe, Gen. Littell and the chief of staff that sanitary conditions ought to be remedied.

"Did you get any results?" asked Senator Chamberlain.

"Finally, yes, but not until after there was much sickness in camp."

"Could the epidemic of disease have been prevented if there had been supplies of clothing and proper sewerage?" asked Senator Weeks.

"It might not have been prevented, but it would have saved a good many of those lives," the General said.

ST. LOUIS SOLDIER DIES IN FRANCE OF MENINGITIS

John H. Hammel, Who Enlisted Last September, Was in Quartermaster's Corps.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 29.—Gen. Pershing has reported the death of Private John H. Hammel, of the Quartermaster's corps. His mother, Mrs. Bertha Hammel, lives in St. Louis. Death was due to meningitis.

Gen. Pershing also reported the following deaths from natural causes:

Private John Coleman, Infantry, Dec. 25, meningitis, Long Island City, N. Y.

Private Eric Soirie, Aero Squadron, Dec. 23, broncho-pneumonia, Waterbury, Neb.

Private Carl Fausnaugh, infantry, Dec. 26, broncho-pneumonia, Richwood, O.

Private James G. Traill, engineers, Dec. 25, pneumonia, Bakersfield, Cal.

Mrs. Bertha Hammel of 3436 Louisiana avenue, was notified yesterday by the War Department of the death of her son, Private John H. Hammel, of meningitis. Hammel enlisted in September in St. Louis and was assigned to the Quartermaster's Department. His mother did not know he had gone to France until word of his death was received. He was 28 years old.

RAILROADS PLAN TO CURTAIL EQUIPMENT

Officials Here Expect Luxurious Passenger Accommodations to Be Eliminated.

Railroads serving St. Louis are not curtailing luxurious passenger equipment to any extent, but orders to do so are expected soon from the head offices.

The Baltimore & Ohio, operating two fast trains daily to Cincinnati, have not as yet discontinued the use of parlor or lounge cars. Officials of the road say all trains are crowded and all available equipment is needed.

The Wabash Railroad has not discontinued the use of parlor cars on the fast Chicago trains, but officials point out the likelihood of such equipment being discontinued within a short time.

Two observation-sleepers on the St. Louis-Kansas City trains of the Missouri Pacific Railroad have been dropped and straight sleepers substituted. This arrangement provides four additional berths for each train.

The Illinois Central eliminated observation cars a month ago.

Effective Sunday, the Wabash will discontinue its morning train to Chicago, which has been leaving at 9:01 o'clock. The following service will be maintained: Banner Limited, leaving Union Station at 12:05 noon; Banner Express, leaving Union Station at 9:17 p. m. and Delmar avenue at 9:32 p. m., and the Midnight Banner, leaving Union Station at 11:55 p. m.

Effective Jan. 1 on the Cotton Belt, train No. 1 will leave at 9:35 a. m. for Southeast Missouri, Arkansas and Texas points and will carry through sleeper to Waco, connecting at Brinkley, Ark., with through sleeper to Dallas and Fort Worth; train No. 3 will leave at 9:04 a. m., instead of 9:50 a. m., for the same territory and will carry parlor buffet car to Jonesboro, Ark. Train No. 2 will arrive at 7:40 a. m. and train No. 4 at 6:15 p. m.

The Burlington is working out plans for the elimination of observation sleepers and the substitution of standard sleepers and for the complete elimination of parlor cars. Some changes will be made effective Jan. 1 and some Jan. 6 and it is expected that by the end of January the new plans will be in complete operation.

Other roads are not ready to make announcements.

RED CROSS WANTS WHITE MICE

NEW ORLEANS, Dec. 29.—Emmet W. White, in charge of the civilian relief of the American Red Cross, announced today that the Red Cross would buy every white mouse in the country. He said:

"We need the white mice for treatment of the soldiers suffering from pneumonia, especially in the Southern cantonments. There have been so many cases that the stock of white mice in the base hospitals has been exhausted. We must have them."

The mice are used for serum tests.

CASH SALES ONLY AT PIERCE OIL CORPORATION FILLING STATIONS

Letters to Customers Announce New System in Effect Jan. 1; Other Firms Using System.

Customers of the automobile filling stations conducted by the Pierce Oil Corporation were notified by letter yesterday that after Jan. 1 gasoline would be sold at the stations on a strictly cash basis.

In making the change from a credit to a cash system, the Pierce company is following the lead set several years ago by the Standard Oil Co., with 15, and the Texas Oil Co., with eight, filling stations in St. Louis. No credit for gasoline or lubricants is extended at the stations conducted by these firms.

The Automobile Gasoline Co. conducts a limited credit business at its 10 filling stations, and contemplates no change of policy. The St. Louis Oil Co. also announced that no change in its sales system had been considered. The Gibbs-Brown Oil and Gasoline Co. extends credit to large firms owning automobile trucks and similar commercial vehicles, and will make no change in this system.

T. R. SOON TO GO TO WASHINGTON

Colonel Wants Military Training Measure Introduced.

OYSTER BAY, N. Y., Dec. 29.—Within the next month or six weeks Col. Theodore Roosevelt will go to Washington to visit his daughter, Mrs. Nicholas Longworth. Col. Roosevelt desires to consult with certain members of the Senate and House about speeding up the war and to have introduced as a permanent governmental policy some such scheme of military training as that provided for in Senator Chamberlain's bill.

Senator Smoot and Congressman Madden came to Oyster Bay a fortnight or so ago and asked Col. Roosevelt to visit Washington.

NINE SLAYERS TAKEN TO PRISON

Two Women Among Those Who Start to Serve Sentences.

Two women and seven men convicted of murder and 21 other prisoners were taken to the penitentiary at Jefferson City this morning. Some were so scantily clad, having sold most of their clothing while in jail, that it was found necessary to wrap them in rugs and blankets to keep them from freezing. Twenty-two men, cuffed to a chain, trotted from the jail to Union Station. The others were taken in a patrol wagon.

The women were Rhoda Bales and Elizabeth Deavers, who killed their admirers. The former has 15 years to serve and the other two years.

France May Copy U. S. Submarine Chasers.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 29.—American-built submarine chasers on duty in French waters have proved so satisfactory to the French naval authorities that the navy's 110-foot type boat may be copied by the French.

Argentina to Sell Wheat to Allies.

BUENOS AIRES, Dec. 29.—It is announced that the Argentine Government has arranged to sell to the allies 2,500,000 tons of wheat of the present harvest.

2 WOMEN, KNOWN AS ASSOCIATES OF GANGMEN, ARE CUT

Mrs. Nellie Trudell and Mrs. Anna Reed Fail to Give Satisfactory Explanation.

THROATS ARE SLASHED

Lived in Same House and Frequently Were Arrested as Witnesses in Gang Killings.

Mrs. Nellie Trudell, 25 years old, and Mrs. Anna Reed, 23, both arrested many times because of their association with gangsters, observed the gang code and refused to give a satisfactory explanation after their throats were cut at their home, 3223 Lucas avenue.

Mrs. Trudell, after being cut, went to a restaurant at 3223 Olive street. From there she was sent to the city hospital, where it was said there was little chance for her recovery.

A few minutes later Mrs. Reed, also with her throat cut, entered a restaurant at 3211 Morgan street. She, too, was sent to the city hospital.

Though Mrs. Trudell was able to talk when she arrived at the hospital, she refused to do so, except to give her address as 1431 East Broadway, East St. Louis. The police learned that her mother, Mrs. Mary Murohy, formerly conducted a gospel mission there.

Mrs. Reed said she answered a knock at the kitchen door of her home and when she opened it a negro entered and cut her. She said Mrs. Trudell was not in the house at the time. When further questioned she said she believed the same negro cut Mrs. Trudell, but could give no reason for this belief.

Policemen who went to the house reported that the kitchen furniture was disarranged as though there had been a fight. They found no knife.

Mrs. Trudell has been arrested 21 times and Mrs. Reed 16 times on various charges, principally as witnesses in gang killings. Their pictures are in the police gallery.

KING OF RUMANIA HAS ABDICATED, PETROGRAD HEARS

Report Says That Ferdinand Has Retired in Favor of Crown Prince Charles.

PETROGRAD, Friday, Dec. 29.—There are persistent rumors here that King Ferdinand of Rumania has abdicated in favor of Crown Prince Charles.

Disturbed conditions in Rumania were reported in a dispatch from Petrograd dated Monday. It was said that news of a revolutionary plot against King Ferdinand had been received at the Bolshevik headquarters in Petrograd. Other reports, it was added, tended to confirm indications of a political crisis.

King Ferdinand, who is a member of the Hohenzollern family, succeeded his uncle, King Charles, in October, 1914, King Charles having died at Sinaia on Oct. 10. Rumania declared war on Austria on Aug. 27, 1916, and King Ferdinand took personal command of the army shortly thereafter.

King Ferdinand is the son of Prince Leopold of Hohenzollern-Sigmaringen, and two of his brothers are Generals in the Germany army. He was born at Sigmaringen, Aug 24, 1865. Crown Prince Charles was born Oct. 3, 1893, and is an officer in the Rumanian army. He is unmarried, although early in 1914 it was reported that his betrothal to the then Grand Duchess Olga of Russia had been arranged.

GEN. WOOD IN FRANCE TO STUDY WAR PROBLEMS

News of His Departure From Camp Funston Month Ago Withheld Until He Reached Europe.

CAMP FUNSTON, Kan., Dec. 29.—Major-General Leonard Wood, Commander of the Eighty-ninth Division at Camp Funston, has landed in France. A cablegram to that effect was received here today.

Gen. Wood and his chief of staff, Lieutenant-Colonel C. E. Kilbourne, have gone ahead to study war problems at first hand, as is being done by the commanding officers of each division. They left Camp Funston more than a month ago, but news of their trip was withheld from publication until word of their safe arrival in France was received.

On the day Gen. Wood left Camp Funston a divisional review was held, every man of the 35,000 stationed here turning out in dress parade. Gen. Wood's wish that his leaving be kept secret was obeyed by every man of the division.

Major-General Charles C. Ballou, a regular army officer from New York, is in command of the camp.

Fire in Odd Fellows' Building.

Fire which started in a janitor's room on the fifth floor of the Odd Fellows' Building, Ninth and Olive streets, and spread through a chute to the roof, damaged the building to the extent of $3000 at 12:30 o'clock this morning.

Coke Prices to Remain the Same.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 29—There will be no general revision of coke prices for the year 1918. Fuel Administrator Garfield today issued an order continuing in force the prices fixed last September.

PACKERS CONTROL MANY INDUSTRIES, WITNESSES SAY

Indicated They Are Interested in Hide, Leather as Well as By-Products.

HEARING IN BOSTON

Corner on Scraps and Fats Helped to Cause High Prices, It Is Declared.

BOSTON, Dec. 29.—Control by the packers of the hide and leather industry as well as the rendering business, with its many branches, was indicated by the evidence elicited by the Federal Trade Commission, which closed for the time being its local inquiry into the country's meat industry today.

As J. E. Maloney of the Brighton Dressed Meat Co. told of selling his hide to the American Hide and Leather Co., Francis J. Heney, the commission's special counsel, asked if he was aware that that was a Swift concern. The rendering company which took the waste of Maloney's company and the property owners he paid rent to, Heney said, were directly or indirectly in control of the Swifts.

The witness said he did not know this.

William M. McDonald, formerly an independent renderer in this city, who lost his health and property in trying to meet his financial obligations, told of this experience.

In adjourning the sessions to enable the commission to return to Washington this afternoon, Heney said the surface had only been scratched in New England.

Small Dealers Squeezed.

Squeezing of small dealers out of competition by the alleged grasp of the big packers on the meat, rendering, soap and fertilizer industries of the country was depicted by witnesses yesterday.

Witnesses engaged in the rendering business asserted that the packers stifle competition for the collection of waste products by bidding up prices beyond the reach of the independent dealer, by resorting to the scheme of giving short weight for refuse, by giving bonuses to retailers to break contracts with competing rendering firms, by fomenting agitations against the erection of new competing rendering plants, and by distributing territory among themselves by gentlemen's agreement in which the trade of a man opening a new butcher shop was sold to the highest bidder, transactions in which the butcher had nothing to say.

In New England, it was testified rendering companies which were trust-controlled maintained a fund to pay bonuses for the trade of retailers at points where independent rendering companies tried to compete.

Retail Trade Controlled.

Not only the rendering business, but even the corner store trade in meats was sought by the packers, witnesses declared. Large markets were established in strategic positions in various cities where packers named the price which meats could be sold at retail, according to testimony. These prices were said to be below that at which the small retailer could sell. As a result it was said, the new butchers were closing up their shops in ever increasing numbers because customers were drawn to the larger stores. Witnesses named the Mohican Co., which has a chain of stores throughout New England, as a specific instance of this kind.

BRIG.-GEN. HARVEY C. CLARK IS DISCHARGED FOR DISABILITY

Head of Missouri Guard Since Spanish-American War Unable Physically to Bear Army Hardship.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 29.—Major-General William M. Wright, commanding officer at Camp Doniphan, has announced here that Brigadier-General Harvey C. Clark of the Missouri National Guard, has been discharged from the service because of physical disability.

"Gen. Clark's attitude was splendid," said Gen. Wright. "His only thought was the good of the service and the good of the country.

"While naturally disappointed in his inability to stand the hard strain of this war, he agreed that it would be foolhardy for him to attempt to retain his command. I have never witnessed a finer spirit. Such an officer is a credit to the army and the country. It is to be regretted that his health forced his retirement. He leaves with the best wishes of every officer and man in the division. Missouri should be proud of him."

Gen. Clark has been in the Missouri Guard for 30 years and at the head of it since the Spanish-American War.

BURGLAR CAUGHT IN INFIRMARY

Police Find Two Attendants Sitting on Negro Intruder.

One of the sisters at St. Mary's Infirmary, Fifteenth and Papin streets, telephoned to police headquarters at 3:30 o'clock this morning that a burglar had been caught ransacked the building. When patrolmen responded they found two attendants sitting upon a negro.

The attendants, Joseph Schmidt and Charles Harris, said they had caught the negro searching a locker. He had 12 three-cent stamps, three two-cent stamps and a razor strop in his pocket. He said that he was Harry Summerfield, 45 years old, of 3012 Laclede avenue, and that he had crawled into the building through a coal chute.

ANOTHER ST. LOUIS NURSE WHOM GEN. HAIG HONORED

—Schwing Pourait.

MISS CONSTANCE CUPPAIDGE.

ONE of two St. Louis nurses mentioned by Field Marshal Haig, Commander in Chief of the British forces as "worthy of special mention" is Miss Constance Cuppaidge, a member of Hospital Unit 21, which went to Europe last May. Miss Cuppaidge, before entering the Government service, was supervisor of the St. Luke's Hospital training school for nurses at 5535 Delmar.

KINLOCH CLUB TO SELL ITS LAND AND DISBAND

Pioneer Country Organization to Dispose of 60-Acre Tract; Formed by 20 St. Louisans.

The Kinloch Club near Normandy, St. Louis County, said by members to be the oldest country club in the vicinity of St. Louis, is preparing to sell its 60-acre tract of land. With the sale, which is expected to be consummated next week the club will go out of existence.

The tract is a short distance west of Ramona Park and adjoins a subdivision known as Kathmar Acres. Twenty St. Louisans organized the club about 25 years ago after purchasing the home and grounds of Lucas Hunt Turner.

As members died their places were left vacant and there are now only eight survivors. They are Julius S. Walsh, H. Clay Pierce, D. R. Francis, Rolla Wells, H. S. Priest, John Fowler, Claude Kilpatrick and Edward J. Walsh.

For several years the club's golf course has not been in use and there have been only occasional meetings and social gatherings in the clubhouse.

The terms of the proposed sale have not been made known, but the appreciation of values in the Kinloch Park neighborhood will make the transaction profitable to the members.

FORMER COUNTESS LESCHINSKY'S INHERITANCE LEFT IN TRUST

Will of Mrs. Louisa Berthold Sanford Divides Estate Between Two Daughters.

The will of Mrs. Louisa Berthold Sanford, who died Dec. 23, was filed yesterday. After making several minor bequests, she gives one-half of the residue of the estate to her daughter, Mrs. Virginia Berthold Lawnin, and the other half is left in trust with the St. Louis Union Trust Co. for the benefit of another daughter, Mrs. Irene Chafee Guion. Mrs. Guion is to receive the income from the trust property as long as she lives. At her death the trust goes to any of her descendants, and if there are none it is to go to Mrs. Lawnin or her heirs. Mrs. Guion is not to anticipate the income. The will was made in May, 1915, when Mrs. Guion was the divorced wife of J. L. Leschinsky, her third husband, known about St. Louis as a Russian Count.

The will provides that Mrs. Lawnin may occupy the mother's home at 4218 West Pine boulevard rent free for one year after the latter's death. Mrs. Guion is living in New York, according to a statement filed in the Probate Court.

NATIONAL ARMY MAN MAKES A 44-POUND GAIN IN WEIGHT

Harry Bredenkoetter, formerly a title examiner in St. Louis, who was drafted in the National Army three months ago, arrived today at his home, 2245 Sullivan avenue, on furlough, and announced he had gained 44 pounds in weight since he entered the military service of the nation.

When Bredenkoetter, who is 24 years old, was called to Camp Funston, in October, he weighed 124 pounds. He now weighs 168 pounds. Prior to the draft, he had tried to enlist, but was rejected for lack of weight. When he arrived at Camp Funston he was assigned to the Depot Company. As his weight steadily increased, however, he was transferred to Battery E, Field Artillery.

Bredenkoetter declares that practically every man at Camp Funston is improving unnder the excellent care given at the cantonment.

Peoria Couple Asphyxiated.

PEORIA, Ill., Dec. 29.—G. W. Nichels, a wealthy Peoria man, and his wife were asphyxiated at Phoenix, Ariz., according to word received here yesterday. No details were given in the brief message. Relatives believe, however, that the couple may have met death from gas fumes inhaled while sleeping. Two children survived, a boy 5 years old and a girl of 3.

Quick sales are made in furniture, books, desks, typewriters, etc., through Post-Dispatch Wants.

MUNICIPAL HOLIDAY CELEBRATION TODAY

Patriotic Music and Religious Pantomime to Be Given in Twelfth Street.

Patriotic music, a religious pantomime and the singing of carols will entertain those who gather at the municipal Christmas tree in Twelfth street, between St. Charles and Locust streets, this afternoon. Thirty-six hundred soldiers and a military band from Jefferson Barracks will participate in the exercises.

The patriotic concert by the military band will begin at 4 o'clock. Following this there will be singing by members of the St. Louis Pageant Choral Society and other organizations. About 200 singers have volunteered to take part. The pantomime, "The Nativity," will start at 5 o'clock. This pantomime will be presented by players from the Little Theater and other amateur organizations.

The principal parts will be taken as follows: Joseph, C. C. Wolf; Mary, Mrs. George Gellhorn; three wise men, Roy Addington, Harlan Fraser and Edward Littman; three shepherds, Ryland Bruce, Irvin Hilb and Frank Starr.

Irving Pichel will direct the production of the pantomime. The choral singing will be under the direction of Frederick Fischer.

The soldiers from Jefferson Barracks and those quartered at the armory and at the Y. M. C. A. will be the guests of the M. A. A., the Mercantile Club, the City Club, the Elks Club, St. Louis Club, Moolah Temple, the Moose Club and the Columbian Club after the celebration. A dinner and special entertainment will be provided for them.

FRENCH PASS BILL TO PREPARE LIST OF MEN OF CLASS OF 1919

Premier Tells Deputies He Will Go If They Do Not Want Necessary Work Done.

PARIS, Dec. 29.—The debate on the bill authorizing the Government to prepare lists of the men of the class of 1919, preparatory to calling them to the colors, was seized upon today by critics of Premier Clemenceau as an opening for an attack on the subject of releasing the older soldiers. In the plainest language the Premier refused to give any undertaking. He received the enthusiastic applause of the greater part of the deputies.

The vote of the Chamber yesterday, Clemenceau said, was a mandate to the Government to carry on the war and he asked the Chamber to give him the means. Gen. Petain, the Commander in Chief, had asked for a certain number of men to carry on urgently needed work on cantonments behind the line. If the Chamber did not wish to have this work done, the Premier continued, let it say so, and he would go.

"At the time when German divisions whose number I cannot calculate are arriving on our front from Russia, is it proper for you to find fault about a few hundred men I need?" Clemenceau demanded. "If men from the rear are required at the front they must return to the front." The bill was adopted by 420 to 73.

PARTY WORKERS IN COUNTY JOIN TO AID GOVERNMENT

Organization of Republicans and Democrats to Suppress Disloyalty and Help Financial Projects.

The Democratic and Republican County Central Committees of St. Louis County met in a joint session in the Clayton Courthouse last night and formed the Patriotic American Organization to aid in the promotion of all governmental movements, and in the suppression of disloyalty.

The first activity of the organization will be to promote the sale of thrift stamps, 55 members of each committee, one of each party in each voting precinct in the county, taking part. It is the purpose to continue the organization until the close of the war to handle future Liberty Bond sales and any other projects promoted by the Government.

A mass meeting will be held in each voting precinct between Jan. 4 and Jan. 12, and next Friday evening a mass meeting will be held in the Clayton Courthouse. Circuit Judge John W. McElhinney, a Republican, is chairman of the organization, and Con P. Curran, a Democrat, is secretary.

MANAGER OF AMERICAN BANK RELEASED BY BOLSHEVIKI

Francis Reports Men Arrested in Seizure of Petrograd Branch Have Been Freed.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 29.—B. R. Stevens, manager of the National City Branch Bank in Petrograd, and his assistant, a Mr. Link, arrested when the Bolsheviki seized the bank, have been released, American Ambassador Francis reported today. Officials of the National City Bank of New York advised the State Department yesterday that the Bolshevik Government had seized its branch in Petrograd and arrested its manager.

In view of the Bolshevik assertion that the Petrograd private banks had not made correct returns to the Government, as required by law, an examination of the Russian banking laws will have to be made before any step is taken.

Should it develop that seizure of the branch was illegal, officials think that for the present they could do no more than protest. The policy of the Government is to go to any honorable lengths to avoid any breach with the Bolshevik regime just at this time.

Don't wish for a good complexion—Resinol will give it to you
If your skin is not fresh, smooth and glowing, or has suffered from an unwise use of cosmetics, here is an easy, inexpensive way to clear it:
Spread on a little Resinol Ointment, letting it remain for ten minutes. Then wash off with Resinol Soap and hot water. Finish with a dash of clear, cold water to close the pores. Do this regularly, once a day, and see if it does not quickly soothe and cleanse the pores, lessen the tendency to pimples, and leave the complexion clear, fresh and velvety. Resinol Ointment and Resinol Soap are sold by all druggists.

A Nutritious Diet for All Ages. Keep Horlick's Always on Hand Quick Lunch; Home or Office.

It's a Crime to Waste Coal in War Time but you'll pay the penalty in your own personal discomfort if the country's coal-pile runs low as a result of waste.
Heat-less days? in addition to wheat-less and meat-less days? No! Not with Monarch Metal Weather Strips to conserve your coal and utilize the heat it provides. Think of next year's coal supply as well as this year's.
The Government demands that you save coal now. It suggests the use of weather strips.
Monarch Metal Weather Strips are a short cut to economy and comfort. They seal "leaky" windows and doors and cut out draughts and doctors' bills. There's no better time than now to install them.
Telephone or write today—a representative will call—estimates will be made—no obligation will be incurred

NOTICE TO TAX PAYERS
Collector's Office, City Hall
Only a few days remain in which taxes for the year 1917 may be paid without penalties.
Would advise those who desire to pay this month, and be promptly waited on, not to wait until the last few days when the office is crowded.
Statements will be furnished if requests are accompanied by postage.
EDMOND KOELN
Collector of the Revenue

NUXATED IRON

You Can Tell the Women with Plenty of Iron in their Blood—Beautiful Healthy Rosy Cheeked Women Full of Life Vim and Vitality.
Dr. Ferdinand King, New York Physician and Medical Author, tells physicians that they should prescribe more organic iron—Nuxated Iron—for their patients—Says anaemia—iron deficiency—is the greatest curse to the health strength vitality and beauty of the modern American Woman.—Sounds warning against use of metallic iron which may injure the teeth, corrode the stomach and do far more harm than good; advises use of only nuxated iron, taken three times per day after meals. It will increase the strength and endurance of weak, nervous, run-down folks 100% in two weeks time in many instances. Dispensed by all good druggists.

MOTHERS, DO THIS—
When the Children Cough, Rub Musterole on Throats and Chests.
No telling how soon the symptoms may develop into croup, or worse. And then's when you're glad you have a jar of Musterole at hand to give prompt, sure relief. It does not blister.
As first aid and a certain remedy, Musterole is excellent. Thousands of mothers know it. You should keep a jar in the house, ready for instant use.
It is the remedy for adults, too. Relieves sore throat, bronchitis, tonsilitis, croup, stiff neck, asthma, neuralgia, headache, congestion, pleurisy, rheumatism, lumbago, pains and aches of back or joints, sprains, sore muscles, chilblains, frosted feet and colds of the chest (it often prevents pneumonia).
30c and 60c jars; hospital size $2.50.
MUSTEROLE
WILL NOT BLISTER

To California—the Golden State—take the Golden State Limited
Over the quick, short, direct, low-altitude Golden State Route via Rock Island—El Paso Southwestern—Southern Pacific.
All the comforts, and many of the luxuries, of a first-class hotel.
Justly famous as the model through train—yet it costs you no more.
The Californian is another famous fast train to Southern California. See the Apache Trail en route.
Our Travel Bureaus will be glad to plan your trip for you.

Do Not Worry About Pimples Because Cuticura Will Quickly Remove Them
On rising and retiring gently smear the face with Cuticura Ointment on end of the finger. Wash off the Ointment in five minutes with Cuticura Soap and hot water. Continue bathing for some minutes using the Soap freely. The easy, speedy way to clear the skin and keep it clear. Cuticura Soap and Ointment are not only wonderful healers but are also wonderful preventives of skin and scalp troubles if used exclusively. The Soap, for daily use in the toilet, cleanses and purifies, the Ointment soothes and heals any little irritations, roughness, pimples, etc.
For sample each free by mail address post-card: "Cuticura, Dept. 23G, Boston." Sold everywhere. Soap 25c. Ointment 25 and 50c.

For New Year's Eve

HOTEL STATLER

Special music, menu and decorations—an unusually attractive setting for this gayest of midwinter events.

Tables now being assigned—in the order of reservations. Five dollars per plate.

Children Cry for Fletcher's

CASTORIA

The Kind You Have Always Bought has borne the signature of Chas. H. Fletcher, and has been made under his personal supervision for over 30 years. Allow no one to deceive you in this. Counterfeits, Imitations and "Just-as-good" are but experiments, and endanger the health of Children—Experience against Experiment.

What is CASTORIA

Castoria is a harmless substitute for Castor Oil, Paregoric, Drops and Soothing Syrups. It contains neither Opium, Morphine nor other narcotic substance. For more than thirty years it has been in constant use for the relief of Constipation, Flatulency, Wind Colic and Diarrhoea; allaying Feverishness arising therefrom, and by regulating the Stomach and Bowels, aids the assimilation of Food; giving healthy and natural sleep. The Children's Panacea—The Mother's Friend,

The Kind You Have Always Bought

Bears the Signature of

Chas. H. Fletcher

In Use For Over 30 Years

THE CENTAUR COMPANY, NEW YORK CITY.

Keep Your Children From Playing with Disease

Children romp all over the house. They play games on the floor. Is the floor free of disease germs? Is every part of the house rid of the danger?

Germs do enter the cleanest homes just as dust does. Ordinary scrubbing does not kill these germs. Where a few germs have lodged ordinary moisture and heat breed them into millions lying in wait for the playing children.

Lysol Disinfectant

Rids the home of this menace. Make all scrubbing-water a solution of Lysol. This disinfectant kills all germs the instant it touches them. Use it in scrubbing sunless corners and in cleansing the toilet, defective plumbing, the sink and in the garbage can. Lysol is economical. A 50c bottle makes five gallons of germ-destroying solution, 25c bottle makes two gallons. Lysol is invaluable for personal hygiene.

In 25c, 50c, and $1.00 bottles. Full directions with each.

Lysol Toilet Soap
Contains Lysol, and therefore protects the skin from germ infection. It is refreshingly soothing and healing and helpful for improving the skin. Ask your dealer. If he hasn't got it, ask him to order it for you.

Lysol Shaving Cream
Contains Lysol, and kills germs on razor and shaving-brush (where germs abound), guards the tiny cuts from infection, and gives the antiseptic shave. If your dealer hasn't got it, ask him to order a supply for you.

Golf a la New Orleans

AFTER the strain of war-time business, what jollier relaxation than a week of golf under tropic skies in gay Creole New Orleans?

No more fantastic sight is seen on golfing green than picaninny caddies arrayed in sporting rig. No more fascinating paradox can be called to mind than the energy of sport carried on under great live oaks to the tuneful singing of the mocking bird.

Would you motor? Then the white shell roads, gleaming and smooth as a dancing floor, tease you toward the music-haunted shores of the Gulf, or along the whispering waters of some picturesque bayou.

Do you enjoy horseracing? Then New Orleans will furnish you with a high class winter meet. Are you a baseball fan? Then you may watch the play of big league stars who often winter in New Orleans and play as members of the city league or train for the major league season. In fact, New Orleans is a cosmopolis of winter sports; offering even duck shooting and fishing within city limits, speedily accessible by taxi, street railway or boat.

The Panama Limited

To New Orleans in Less Than Nineteen Hours

makes mid-winter relaxation pleasantly possible to the busiest business man. No other resort is so near; and this nearness is a distinct asset when unsettled trade conditions prevail.

In less than a day, the Panama Limited takes you into the atmosphere of a foreign land; among French restaurants where game and fish are prepared by genuine Creole cooks; among Spanish courtyards bowered in tropical plants.

Best of all, the Panama Limited makes the journey as delightful as its ending. No Extra Fare. No other train surpasses it in luxury; no other train between North and South equals it in speed. New Orleans is the gateway to Texas and California via the Southern Route.

THE POST-DISPATCH DAILY RECORD OF MARKETS AND FINANCE

STOCK LIST IRREGULAR IN LATE DEALINGS IN THE NEW YORK MARKET

Profit-Taking Sales Halt Advance After Rather Sharp Gains Are Scored---Bonds Are Active and Steady.

By Leased Wire From the New York Bureau of the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, Dec. 29.—The Evening Post, in its copyrighted financial review today, says:

NEW YORK, Dec. 29.—"For a while during this morning's session of the stock market prices moved in uncertain fashion, with numerous slight declines, as though the familiar profit-taking at the week end, after a period of sharp advances, were in progress. After this preliminary movement, however, prices actively resumed their advance.

"Among the railway shares gains amounted to a point or two; while in several groups of industrial shares, especially the motor stocks, even larger advances occurred.

"In some respects today's market had the appearance of an adjustment in the values of industrial stocks, to bring them more nearly into line with the increased prices of the railroad shares.

"Russian internal bonds again broke sharply, touching $70 per 1000 rubles; the decline following reports of bank seizures by the Bolsheviki in Moscow.

"Dealings on the Stock Exchange were in unusually arge volume for a Saturday's session."

The Bank Statement.

"Today's weekly statement of the Clearing House banks showed a recovery of $35,135,620 in surplus reserve, following last week's large decline of $93,600,000. That item now stands at $112,376,000. Loans and investments of the banks were $33,686,000 smaller for the week, against which there was an increase of fully $92,600,000 in deposits.

"That the banks were able to show an improved reserve position was due to a gain of $48,041,000 in their reserves at the Federal Reserve Bank; though that institution's report showed an actual decline of $3,900,000 in bills discounted. In Reserve banks elsewhere in the country, there were few significant changes, aside from a tendency to reduce the amount of paper discounted.

DETAILED REPORT OF DAY'S TRADING IN WALL STREET

NEW YORK, Dec. 29.—Trading on the Stock Exchange today was somewhat curtailed by advance weather conditions which caused interruption with out-of-town points. Such interest as was manifested again centered largely around low priced rails in which additional gains of 1 to 2½ points were made. The Rock Island issues were again the most active features. War shares were firm with motors and metals, but United States Steel soon forfeited its slight advance. Liberty bonds were steady.

Weekly Wool Review.

BOSTON, Mass., Dec. 21.—The Commercial Bulletin will say tomorrow:

The last week of the year, true to its usual form, has been a quiet one. Prices, except on fine sport clothing wools, have been very firm on all grades, however, and with the developments of the past week, there has been no disposition on the part of holders to sell wool for any less money.

The situation at the mills is a very strong one and bids fair to keep so, with the machinery engaged on Government orders being increased more or less steadily.

Oils.

LINSEED OIL—Quote in lots of from 1 to 4 barrels at $1.23 per gallon for raw and $1.24 for boiled.

COTTONSEED OIL—Winter white, $1.75; do yellow, $1.74; summer white, $1.73; summer yellow, $1.72; salad, $1.74; cooking—white, $1.73; yellow, $1.72.

CASTOR OIL—Quote in lots of 200 gallons or over at 27c per pound for No. 1 and 26c for No. 3 in barrels—in smaller quantities 1c per pound more.

Alton Watchmen to Be Sworn In.

COTTON IS TEN POINTS HIGHER IN NEW YORK

NEW YORK, Dec. 29.—The cotton market opened steady, with January 4 points lower and later positions generally 5 to 16 points higher. There was good buying of the late positions, especially October by Japanese interests and moderate support from the trade and by continental houses, which furnished later strength, January advancing to 30.59 and March to 30.05, representing net advances of about 10 points. The demand was supplied by week-end realizing and a little scattered Southern selling. A good deal of attention was given to big spot sales in the South yesterday.

The continuation of trade buying late in the forenoon led to further advances, January reaching 30.60c and March 30.09c, or 10 to 15 points over the previous close. Part of this was lost just before the close under more active Southern hedge selling and liberal realizing, although the market was nevertheless finally very steady, with prices 4 to 18 points net higher.

Cotton: Spot quiet; middling uplands, 31.85c.

CORN FUTURES FIRM IN A QUIET MARKET

Cold Weather and Small Receipts Help the Bulls; Oats Are Strong.

There was a very light trade in corn here today, but futures were steady to ½c higher. Cold weather, small receipts and the passing of the December option at the maximum of $1.28 were factors in the advance.

Oats were strong and sold at the highest point on the crop, on small receipts and reports of export buying. Trade was quiet, however.

Northwest wheat cars:

	Today.	Last week.	Last year.
Minneapolis	180	258	146
Duluth	21	31	14
Winnipeg	161	429	400
Total	362	718	560

Chicago reported country offerings of oats increasing quite a little and offered 60-day shipmen and nearly all the cash houses havxe little for sale.

Exporters were bidding 6¼c over December at Chicago for oats delivered to Newport News. New Orleans was bidding 9½c over delivered New Orleans.

Daily primary movement:

COLD WEATHER CAUSES STRONG CORN MARKET

CHICAGO, Dec. 29.—Corn prices hardened today on account of unfavorable conditions for the movement of grain. Forecasts pointed to only a slight diminution of the prevailing extreme cold. Meanwhile receipts were meager.

Opening prices which ranged from unchanged figures to ¼c higher, with January $1.26½ to $1.26⅝ and May $1.25⅛ to $1.25, were followed by a slight general upturn.

Oats advanced to the highest point yet this season. Likelihood of export business appeared to be the chief factor.

Lower quotations on hogs failed to have a lasting bearish effect on provisions. Initial declines were overcome by the strength of grain.

BRITISH LABOR UPHOLDS PREMIER IN WAR AIMS

Conference Goes on Record for Continuing Fight for World Freedom.

RUSSIA IS NOTIFIED

Achievement of Allied Aims Is Essential to Mankind, Lloyd George Says in Letter.

LONDON, Dec. 29.—Premier Lloyd George, in a letter which he sent yesterday to the special national labor conference, declared:

"Achievement of the purposes for which the allies are fighting is essential to the future freedom and peace of mankind."

The Premier also asserted that a statement on war aims could be made only in agreement with Great Britain's allies. The question of issuing a fresh joint declaration, he added, was being constantly kept in view by the Entente allied Governments.

The Premier's statement is regarded as the British reply to the German peace offer.

The labor conference was convened here by the parliamentary committee of the Trades Union Congress and the executive of the Labor party to consider a "memorandum on war aims." A pronunciamento was adopted, with a virtually unanimous show of hands, declaring that in continuing the war labor is actuated by a determination to make the world safe for democracy hereafter. No sympathy was expressed in the text of the statement with attempts to convert the war into one of conquest, but it insisted that restitution and reparation, and also certain territorial readjustments are necessary if the renewal of armaments and war is to be avoided.

View of British Labor.

The conference was attended by 750 delegates, and was expected to place on record an expression of opinion from British labor on the war aims of this country. Its adoption of the memorandum is considered especially significant, in view of the peace negotiations between Germany and Russia.

The statement places at the forefront a demand for the restoration and rehabilitation of Belgium at the expense of Germany. It also dealt with Alsace-Lorraine, Italy, the Balkans, Poland, Turkey and German African colonies on lines similar to those suggested in earlier documents on these subjects.

The original memorandum was discussed and adopted early in August at a special conference of the labor party and was a sequel to the abortive Stockholm conference of last summer. Its terms have since been considerably amended by various subcommittees, but the main features had been retained.

It had been confidently believed, however, that action of the conference would be taken notwithstanding amendments from the independent labor party and several radical proposals from the British Socialist party.

Following the formal opening of the conference a letter from David Lloyd George, the British Prime Minister, was read. After thanking the conference for a resolution of the Parliamentary Committee of the trades union congress and the National Committee of Labor, which party suggested that Great Britain make a declaration of the war aims of the Entente, the letter said:

"A statement in regard to the war aims of the allies can, of course, only be made in agreement with the other nations who are fighting in alliance together in the war. The question of issuing a fresh joint declaration on this subject is one which is constantly kept in view by the allied Governments, but it is not one about which it is possible for the British Government to speak by itself.

"We had looked forward to an interchange of views on this subject with delegates appointed by the Russian Government to attend the conference held in Paris; but to our regret the absence of any representatives of Russia at that conference made any such consultation impossible."

As to Great Britain's war aims, the Premier referred the conference to his speech on the adjournment of Parliament, and expressed the hope that this speech would remove any misunderstanding.

Aims Not Changed.

Lloyd George's letter said that to his mind "the ideals for which we are fighting today are precisely those for which the British empire entered the war."

"We accepted the challenge thrown down by Prussia," the letter continued, "in order to free the world once and for all from the intolerable menace of militaristic civilization and to make possible a lasting peace by restoring the liberty of oppressed nationalities and by enforcing respect for those laws and treaties which are the protection of all nations, whether great or small."

The Premier concluded that he was never more convinced that the purposes for which the allies were continuing the war were not imperialistic or vindictive, but that their achievement was essential to the future freedom and peace of mankind.

Joseph Havelock Wilson, president of the International Seamen's Union, characterized the memorandum as the most contradictory document he ever had seen presented to a trades union congress.

"Until we have made the German nation feel that it has made a grievous mistake and it has repented of its crimes and foul murders our aim should be to carry on the war," Wilson said.

James Henry Thomas, assistant general secretary of the Amalgamated Society of Railway Servants, said that when peace was discussed it must be a world peace. He added that if Germany did not agree to labor's war aims, labor must fight on to secure what labor believed to be right.

An attempt to amend the motion to consider the memorandum was made by Stephen Walsh, parliamentary secretary of the local Government Board and a Labor member of Parliament. Walsh contended that as many branches of the national labor movement had not had an opportunity to consider the memorandum, further discussion of it should be adjourned for a month.

Amendment Rejected.

The proposed amendment was rejected by a vote of 2132 to 1164.

There was considerable opposition disclosed at the opening of the conference to the announcement of the chairman that the decision of the conference on the memorandum on war aims must be binding, several of the delegates interrupting with the cry, "Get on with the war."

Arthur Henderson, leader of the labor party in the House of Commons and former Minister without portfolio in the British War Council, in moving the adoption of the memorandum, said that in framing the proposals the committee had regard to the imperative needs of humanity as a whole and the rights of free peoples. When he declared that Britons were not fighting the German people, Henderson was interrupted by a shout, "Well, we ought to be," from the delegates of the Seamen's Union.

Continuing, Henderson said the guiding principles of the labor party were of essential importance in securing a settlement of the controversy as soon as possible, a settlement founded on the principles of demrocracy and security; that all territorial adjustments must not be dictated by annexationist and imperialistic designs or for reasons of military strategy, but in the interest of progressive civilization and world peace. He added that the trade policy of the country must not be founded on economic oppression or commercial isolation of the German people.

Wants War Aims Restated.

In making a plea for a restatement of war aims, Henderson said this did not signify "hands up," or the white feather. Labor had no desire to see Germany admitted to the league of nations while she was intoxicated by a spirit of military triumph. What labor insisted on, he added, was that the allies should make it unmistakably clear that if the struggle was to continue it must continue only for principles and ideals, not for conquest.

Labor, Henderson continued, asked for the opportunity of ascertaining how far Germany was prepared to accept labor's peace proposals.

Referring to the statement of Sir Edward Carson that Turkey and Austria did not want to go on with the war, Henderson asked why these countries were not dealt with as Germany had dealt with Russia.

Joseph Havelock Wilson then moved a rejection of the memorandum, but his motion was lost by a vote of 12 to 345.

At the conclusion of the conference, Henderson telegraphed the results to the International Socialist Bureau at Stockholm, requesting that they be communicated to the chairman of the Workmen's and Soldiers' delegates in Petrograd. Likewise, he requested that the strong desire of the conference against a separate peace be made known to the Russians.

The telegram included the statement that the laborites were endeavoring to influence the Government in accordance with the decision reached by the conference.

Lloyd George received a delegation from the conference last evening.

Truck Driver Injures Man, Then Flees.

Charles Kern, 58 years old, of 3806 Flora boulevard, was knocked down at Twentieth street and Washington avenue yesterday by a motor truck operated by a negro, who did not stop. At his own request Kern was taken to the Missouri Athletic Association's building. Several of his ribs were fractured and he was internally hurt.

WAGNER IN PARTIAL ECLIPSE AT SYMPHONY

Shares Program, Formerly All His Own, With Frenchmen and Italian.

By RICHARD L. STOKES.

IN previous years it has been the custom of the director of the Symphony Orchestra to devote one pair of concerts entirely to the works of Richard Wagner. He was the only composer to whom this honor was paid, and invariably some great singer, like Gadski, or Fremstadt, or Whitehill, was engaged to assist in the tribute.

At the beginning of this season the usual Wagner program was announced for the concerts of the present week. But later someone saw a light—Manager Gaines avers that the act of illumination had nothing to do with the war—with the result that at yesterday's concert, to be repeated tonight, the Saxon master appeared in partial eclipse. He was restricted to one-half of the program, which he was compelled to share with two Frenchmen and an Italian. Instead of importing a tenor to sing the Prize Song from "Die Meistersinger," the air was given to Concertmaster Gusikoff—an innovation which, however attractively it was played on the violin, was enough to make Wagner revolve in his grave.

As a matter of fact, there has been considerable agitation in other cities against performing Wagner at all during the war. His music dramas have been banished from the Metropolitan and Chicago Opera Houses. Some have urged that while his vocal numbers should be barred or else sung in English because they are couched in an alien tongue, there need be no objection to his works in instrumental form, because music is a universal language. Others reply that music as well as words possesses a national vernacular, and that Italian, Russian, French and German music show distinct racial traits.

Wagner's Disdain for America.

Advocates of Wagner have pointed out that he was compelled to flee for his life from Dresden in 1849 and was an exile from Germany for many years, because of his implication in the revolution of that year. But Wagner himself has written that his interest in the insurrection was not at all political; because he could not procure the production of his operas under a monarchical regime, he hoped they might fare better under a democracy. Later, when King Ludwig of Bavaria became his patron, Wagner was instantly convinced that a monarchy was the ideal form of government.

As a matter of fact, Wagner was one of the first and one of the most vehement of those who, by the simple process of picking out every good quality in human nature and labeling it German, reached the conclusion that the Germans were the noblest race that lived or ever had lived upon the globe. This singular conviction is expressed again and again in his writings. His contempt for the United States was boundless and often expressed. When he was in the depths of penury, he refused an offer of $12,000 if he would conduct a series of concerts in this country, on the ground that among the barbaric Yankees his artistic genius would be stifled. In 1873 Chicago offered him ample capital to stage his "Ring," but he replied that he would not come to the United States for less than $1,000,000. He accepted $5000 for writing a march played at the Philadelphia Centennial, and then remarked cynically and most truly that the best thing about the composition was the money he got for it.

Whatever their motives, the powers that be in the orchestra determined on a compromise, neither eliminating Wagner altogether, nor permitting his former complete reign over two of the year's concerts. The selections were from three of his music dramas—four numbers from "Die Meistersinger," Siegfried's Death Music from "Goetterdaemmerung," and Wotan's Farewell and the fire scene from "Die Walkuere."

Wagner's music by no means dominated the program. He had formidable rivalry in the Frenchman Debussy, represented by his prelude, "The Afternoon of a Faun." Debussy is one of the great pioneers in music, and has been declared the only modern to found an entirely new school of composition—that of impressionism. Though the prelude has had better performances here—for instance by the New York Symphony Orchestra—one could not miss his Gallic keenness of thought, his subtle sensibility, his delicate poetry. To twentieth century ears his edged dissonances, his elusive melodies and his shadings of feeling refined to the last degree, may come to have over the incessant triads and obvious tunes of the older composers the same superiority of significance which George Meredith's poetry enjoys, for example, over that of Wordsworth.

The program began with Chabrier's overture to "Gwendoline," and the third number was one that had its first hearing in America—Alfredo Casella's Suite in C, "A Jean Hure." Casella is one of the most successful of the younger composers, and is an expert in colorful orchestration. His suite made a favorable impression, especially the third movement, a dance with a merry rhythm.

"PSYCHOLOGICAL" REASONS FOR COAL SHORTAGE, WITNESS SAYS

Rush of Householders to Obtain Supply Was Heavy Drain on National Resources, Official Declares.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 29.—With L. A. Snead, head of the Fuel Administration's distributing agency on the stand, the Senate committee investigating the coal situation today continued its efforts to bring out the reasons for the nation-wide coal shortage.

Transportation difficulties, particularly a marked car shortage, were assigned yesterday by Snead as the dominant causes of the prevailing coal difficulties. The shortage also might be described as "psychological" he added, explaining that a concerted rush of householders to obtain an adequate winter supply had proved too heavy a drain on the national supply.

ANSWERS TO QUERIES

As we have no information bureau, it is impossible to answer queries by mail or telephone.

LAW POINTS.

C.—Talk with prosecuting attorney, Municipal Courts Bldg., about the "husband who lives with another."

P. T. C.—In Arkansas divorce is necessary before the wife of a felon can marry another man.

M. I.—Law does not say whether a person is responsible for accidents occurring while using his own rubber gloves in any kind of electrical work.

BEAUTY CULTURE.

SARA.—It is not often that the natural color of the hair returns after it has once turned gray. A darker hue may be given it by the use of burnt cork. In the form of a crayon or of grease paint or homemade with vaseline this is serviceable Different shades of red, brown, blond and chestnut may be obtained in the same way with powdered henna leaves made into a tea and powdered indigo in solution. These are harmless.—Hirshberg.

WAR TALK.

B. S. T.—No to both questions.

H. A. S.—The draft for Canada is about to begin.

UNSIGNED LETTER.—You would not lose property if you were drafted.

PALACE ROYAL.—Yes. A man in that condition wuold class himself in class 5.

A. D.—A man in the army can send back more than $4 a week for the support of his wife and baby.

S. J.—Until divorced he must support you. Write to the Captain of his Company in regard to Government support.

OBLIGED TEAMSTER.—The examination you had was preliminary. You would have to pass another examination, to be enlisted.

R. E. S.—You could not claim exemption because the persons you mention would not be dependent upon you for a long enough time.

MRS. A. D.—Men may now enlist in the navy and be assured that while in the service, those dependent on them will receive from the Government a monthly allowance in addition to the sailor's pay. If a man has a wife only, the Government will send her each month $15; if wife and one child, $15; if wife and two children, $32 and $5 for each additional child, up to $50. If a man has a motherless child, it will be allowed $5; if two, $12.50; three, $20 and so on up to $50. To get these allowances, in addition to the man's pay, he simply has to order an equal amount sent to the dependents out of his pay, but never more than half his pay. Thus, if a man with a wife but no child will order the Department to send her $15 out of his pay, the Government will add $15 to it and send her $30 each month. Likewise, upon ordering a portion of his pay turned over to dependent parents, grandparents, brothers or sisters, the Government will make additional allowance to them, depending upon the relationship, etc. Write to his commander.

TIMBER PRESERVATION.

A. O. J.—Of the many antiseptics which have been proposed for the preservation of timber only 4 have been largely used with success in the United States. These are creosote, zinc chlorid, corrosive sublimate (bichlorid of mercury) and copper sulphate. At the present time copper sulphate has fallen into almost disuse, and corrosive subliamte is restricted to 2 plants in New England. The use of this latter is the so-called "kyanizing" process which is so frequently referred to in all the literature of wood preservation. In general, the process consists in steeping the timber in a dilute solution of corrosive sublimate long enough to insure thorough penetration. Thus in the United States creosote and zinc chlorid are the only preservatives in common use. There are many other patented substances known by various names; but most of them have for their base one or the other of these 2 preservatives. Creosote is a by-product of coal tar, which is produced at most plants for the manufacture of illuminating gas and at by-product coke-oven plants. This tar is distilled, and during the process the condensed vapors are run into 3 separate vessels and thus separated into the light oils of coal tar or naphthas, the dead oil of coal tar or creosote, and pitch. Creosote is not a simple substance like zinc chlorid. On the contrary, it contains a large number of constituents of great chemical complexity. Wood tar, when distilled in a similar manner, gives "wood creosote," which like that derived from coal tar, posesses strong antiseptic properties. There is also on the market a so-called creosote, a by-product of water-gas tar or tar manufactured from kerosene oils, which for wood preservation is probably inferior to the true creosote. In general, however, by "creosote" is meant the dead oil of coal tar. Zinc chloride is obtained by dissolving metallic zinc in hydrochloric acid. This is furather diluted by water before it is used for wood preservation. Just as there are 2 preservatives in common use, so there are 2 principal methods of injecting them into thetimber. These may be called the "pressure-cylinder method" and the "open-tank method." A third process, known as the "brush method," is used to a more limited extent.

MISCELLANEOUS.

F. G. P.—Congress has never declared a national holiday.

J. K.—Six weeks or 2 months may pass before you hear from civil service examination.

O. E. W.—Government can convert any of its bonds if it chooses to do so; what it will do remains to be seen. Read news.

PAUL.—The distance on Market street from the established wharf line to the east side of 18th street is 6822 feet or 1.29 of a mile.

READER.—Before you go to any school, see Civil Service Office, Third and Olive, about what you should know for place as clerk. Information free.

Willard's Circus Experiences Seem to Have Made Him a Mere Sawdust Champion

"ALL RUMORS THAT I HAVE SELECTED PILOT ARE FALSE"

—BRANCH RICKEY.

President of Cardinals Denies He Offered Job to Anyone Other Than Hendricks.

HUGGINS TO SEE QUINN

Developments in Pratt Deal Expected to Materialize in Meeting Today.

Mike O'Neill, manager of the Syracuse club in the New York State League, has not been tendered the management of the Cardinals for next season and will not be offered the place in the immediate future, at least. Thus Branch Rickey, president of the Cardinals, has disposed of Rumor No. 9382 concerning his pilot for next season.

As usual, New York is responsible for the newest yarn, which appeared on the local horizon late yesterday. According to the report O'Neill had been offered the job by Rickey and had until Monday to either decline or accept it.

No Offer to Anyone.

"I have never offered O'Neill the job as manager of the Cardinals," said Branch this morning. "Neither have I offered the place to anyone else besides Jack Hendricks. This O'Neill rumor is simply a misrepresentation of facts, that's all. I do not know for what purpose it was given birth, but I do know there is absolutely nothing to it.

"As I have said before, I have a man under consideration. This man has received no offer from me and will not receive one just now, at least. And while I am discussing it, you may as well deny for me any rumor purporting to pick my manager for next season. It isn't even necessary to call me up and ask me about it, because when I have chosen my man the announcement will come from me and no one else."

Which is about as clearly defined as anything that could be said in the matter.

Something Doing Here.

Bob Quinn was breathing heavily this morning. The cause was that Miller Jay Huggins had made an appointment via telephone to call upon the Browns' business manager. Huggins' interview, of course, will have to do with the acquisition of Derrill Pratt, the Brownie second-sacker, upon whom Hug has been casting seductive glances for lo! these many weeks.

"I do not know," said Quinn this morning, "whether we will close the deal today or not. The matter is entirely up to Huggins. He has our proposition—has had it for some time. He can take it or leave it. It absolutely is the best we can do. However, perhaps I shall know something after I have seen him this morning."

No Money to Newark.

President Ban Johnson of the American league announced today that he had received a telegram from President Tener of the National league saying that the major leagues have been enjoined from paying any money to the defunct Newark, N. J. club of the Federal League until the league settles with Vincent Campbell, former Pittsburg outfielder who obtained a judgement against it.

Sox Go South March 16.

The world's champion White Sox will hike south to their spring training camp at Mineral Wells, Texas, March 16, acording to an announcement from President Comiskey yesterday. Thirty players will make the trip. The schedule of exhibition games has not been completed. An effort will be made to arrange a contest with the New York Giants at Marlin Springs, Tex., where the latter train.

Earl Neale Enlists?

Reports from Cincinnati state that Earl Neale, left fielder for the Reds, is supposed to have enlisted in the army. If the enlistment is confirmed, it will probably save Sherwood Magee's job for him, as Matty had planned to release the veteran slugger.

Pension Him, Boys.

Big Ed Walsh just couldn't make the grade. The former spitball star has been handed his unconditional release by the Braves, which probably means the end of his efforts to come back. Walsh first tried it with the Giants, but McGraw passed him along to Stallings.

Important, if True.

If anyone is interested in knowing it, Boston sends forth the report that Jimmy Walsh, outfielder, will stick with the Red Sox, while Manny Koop will report to Connie Mack, in the deal whereby the Beantown aggregation secured Joe Bush, Strunk and Schang. Much obliged.

Smith Claims Exemption.

Jack Smith, the Cardinals' fleet young outfielder, who has been visiting here, will go back to Chicago, his home, tonight. Jack's particular reason for departing these environs is that he must fill out a questionnaire and determine his status in the draft. He will claim exemption on the grounds of dependent parents.

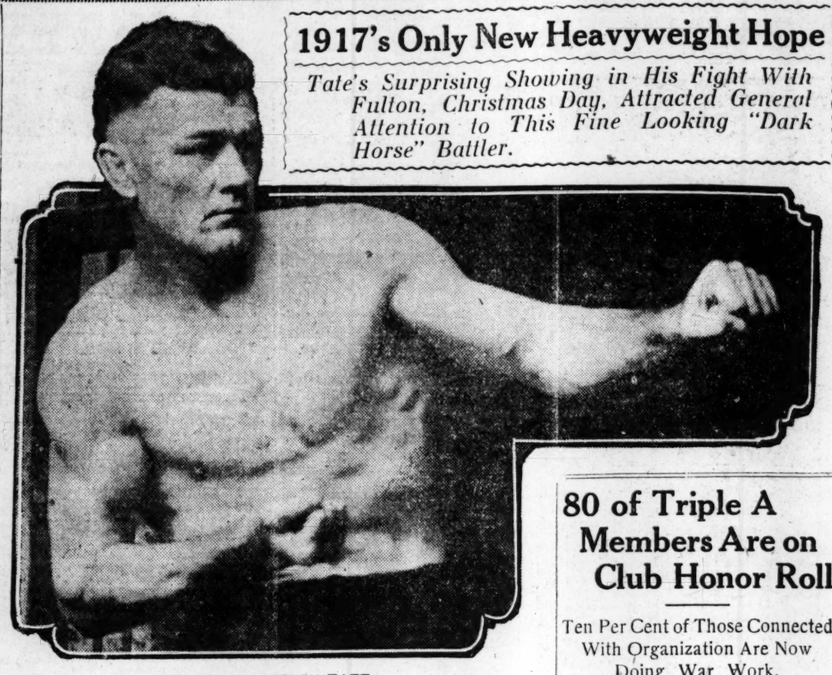
Tom Chivington, a year ago deposed as president of the American Association after Ban Johnson had made a fight to keep him in office, has been tendered a position as business manager of the Louisville club.

Trinity Five Wins.

The Trinity Reserves defeated the Second Baptist basketball five on the latter's court last night, 42 to 35. Johnson, right forward for the winners, counted 22 points.

1917's Only New Heavyweight Hope

Tate's Surprising Showing in His Fight With Fulton, Christmas Day, Attracted General Attention to This Fine Looking "Dark Horse" Battler.



HARRY "TEXAS" TATE.

Newest 'Hope' Has Knocked Out 11 Foemen in 15 Bouts

Bill McCarney Thinks He Has Found a Legitimate Successor to Lute McCarty in Hard-Hitting Harry Tate of Texas, Whom Fulton Fouled.

By John E. Wray.

UPCOMING pugilists in 1917 were as scarce as German sympathizers at Jefferson Barracks. A few boxers improved their standing with the sporting fraternity, among these being Harry Greb, Billy Miske and Mike O'Dowd; but of genuine 18-K novelties in the pugilistic world, there was only one—Harry "Texas" Tate—and he blew in just as the year was waning.

Tate's sun dawned last Christmas day, about 4:37 p. m., although he had previously been at large on this hemisphere for about 24 years and one month. About the time mentioned "Texas" was lifting his bruised 205 pounds displacement from the floor of a Little Rock fight arena, whither he had been illegally propelled by the mighty and somewhat aggravated Fred Fulton.

Through the dazed brain of "Texas" the crowd's unbelievable shouts were lurching: "You win, Tate," It seemed ridiculous to believe that after scarcely two minutes of boxing such a transformation could have happened; that he, a bush athlete, who went into the match on his uppers, should come out on top—winner over the man who had barely finished announcing that he had claimed the world's championship! But it was a fact—he had won in a single round.

• • •

Fulton's Escutcheon Stained.

IT was a victory on a foul; but it WAS a victory. Ad Wolgast lost his title that way. Furthermore, during the brief period the fight had lasted, Tate had fought well. He had rather shown up Fulton. All in all, the incident conspired to lift the unknown heavyweight above the horizon and into the notice of men everywhere—for the first time.

He is now of such importance, that Fulton must erase him before meeting Jess Willard for the title (Joe Miller, attention!) And he has already been granted a match with Fred the Plasterer, which we mention by way of proving that Fulton so understands the situation.

All of which is going some.

• • •

McCarney's Last "Hope."

IT is interesting to note that Tate is being managed by Billy McCarney, whose family name rhymes with blarney. Billy manages everybody and everything. He has even managed to get by.

When the writer first discovered McCarney he was managing a fight club in Springfield, Mo. One of his side lines was the promotion of Luther McCarty, a young, fine-looking fellow who had not done much in the ring world. Like "Texas" Tate, he had been dodging through the "bushes," getting experience. He was fast for a big man, clever and could hit. McCarney thought he was ripe. He matched him with Carl Morris, then in about the same relation to the championship that Fulton now is. Jack Johnson was champion and, in those days, Morris could not get a match with him; just as Willard today, has side-stepped Fulton.

McCarty upset Morris and his ambitions, exactly as Tate did Fulton five years later. In both cases McCarney worked the same scheme—that of luring an overconfident star into the bush circuit to oppose a fairly good unknown. Of course Fulton was not knocked out, as was Morris; but he was rather discredited by his showing against Tate.

• • •

In passing it may be mentioned that Tate knocked out Arthur Pelky in three rounds; it was Pelky who killed McCarney's previous "hope," McCarty, in their bout at Calgary, Canada.

• • •

Tate Has a Budding Record.

ALTHOUGH but little is known of Harry Tate among the "big time" fight promoters, he is far from being obscure or inexperienced, if we judge by his record. He has defeated a number of fairly good men a big majority of them by the knockout way.

His record shows he has fought 15 battles, winning 14, of which 11 were knockouts.

McCarney discovered him in Kansas City, some months ago, when he caught a glimpse of "Texas" landing some well-placed wallops against the impenetrable sides of that big tank, Carl Morris. McCarney liked him so well that he took him on and began coaching him. The Fulton fight showed with what results.

• • •

Began as Ball Player.

TATE first started in the athletic world as a baseball player. He even advanced far enough to receive a tryout in 1910 with Connie Mack's team—that is to say, he had reached the kindergarten stage. He was farmed out to Spartanburg, S. C., but declined to report there. Later he was reinstated and pitched two seasons for the Galveston team of the Texas League. After which he retired. There are those who say that Tate got his first start at fighting by whipping Texas League umpires.

Wonderfully built, standing 6 feet 2 inches in his "Soleproofs," carrying 205 pounds (stripped) of lean meat and solid bone (belfry excepted), and owning a gorilla's reach of 80½ inches there were physical reasons for believing that this youth was a "comer" in the fight world. Furthermore he could land a blow and take one, too. Admirers at length persuaded him and he began in 1913 a fight career that may lead him anywhere.

• • •

Here Is Tate's Record.

TATE'S first fight under the McCarney direction occurred at Joplin, last November, when "Texas" planted the good night stuff on Bob Warner's chin in four rounds. Following is a complete list of his bouts:

NAME.	Dec. Rounds
Bob Warner	K. O. 9
Jack Lester	Won 1
Frank Montour	K. O. 3
Frank Rowland	K. O. 6
Curley Morris	K. O. 3
Al Williams	K. O. 5
Jim Barry	K. O. 3
Tony Ross	Won 12
Jack Reed	K. O. 5
Jim Harper	K. O. 6
Jack Hemple	K. O. 11
Jack Geyer	K. O. 9
Arthur Pelky	K. O. 3
Jim Flynn	Lost (F) 4
Fred Fulton	Won (F) 1

• • •

TATE'S father is dead. His mother lives at Taylor, Tex., at the family home. Whether she is dependent on her son for support is not known. If she is independent, some of Tate's best fighting is likely to be done for Uncle Sam, instead of for himself.

CHERRY DIAMOND BASKET TEAM RETAINS DIVISION LEAD IN CITY LEAGUE

Just as they had expected the players of the Missouri A. A. basket ball five, they had a real battle when they met the Weekes in the feature Municipal League basket ball game, last night. The Cherry Diamond quint won 37 to 33, thereby retaining first place in the division standing.

It was the sensational work of Forward Webster who scored 16 points that allowed Coach Wirtz's men to win. Webster filled in for Ed Peters, but the regular was not even missed. Another M. A. A. regular who was out of the game was Nies, a guard. He was replaced by Mills, who also did unusually well.

The only other game played resulted in a top-heavy victory for the Alpen Braus over the Kenricks. The victors won by a 49 to 13 score. Only two of the Y. M. H. A. players appeared for their game with the Wagners and consequently the contest was forfeited. The Missouri Council team had previously asked for a postponement of their game with the Columbian A. C., the request being granted. The Wagners and C. A. C. mixed in an impromptu battle, the latter team winning 38 to 16.

Conzelman Home Again.

Jimmy Conzelman, the former athlete who enlisted in the navy is again home on a furlough from the Great Lakes Naval Training Station. Jimmy reports his ukelele playing is steadily improving.

80 of Triple A Members Are on Club Honor Roll

Ten Per Cent of Those Connected With Organization Are Now Doing War Work.

A recently compiled honor roll of the Triple A, an organization of local amateur sportsmen, shows that 80 members of that club are now actually engaged or enlisted to engage in war service. Triple A has approximately 800 members, the honor roll being 10 per cent of the club membership.

With such losses, the baseball, golf, and tennis teams of the Forest Park club are certain to suffer, as among those who are in Government service are some of the best athletes of the organization. Walter Crunden, Jack Lionberger, Charles Perry, Ed Thomas, Ed Tilton, Milton Stern, Fred Riesmeyer, J. H. Sullivan and E. A. Rice are a few of the tennis players who have in the past upheld the clubs laurels on the court. Clarence Wolff, city champion Andy McCreery, former club champion; Eddie Limberg, one-time city title-holder; J. F. Montgomery, and Ellsworth Smith are golfers of real merit who will be unable to represent the A. A. A. on the links next summer. The loss of Jack Ailsworth, R. Anderson, and R. L. Daley will sadly cripple the baseball nine.

A number of men are already in France and have been in action for some time. Among those are R. L. Daley, Albert Bond Lambert, A. J. Moore, W. H. Olmstead, Towner Phelan, Dr. J. E. Stewart, Dr. H. C. Thomas, L. M. Watts and Dr. H. M. Young, J. Desloge, of the golf players, has been in Italy for several months.

The honor roll is as follows: Golf—Dr. V. P. Blair, E. F. Bokern, R. Conroy, J. Desloge, D. French, B. W. Freeman, W. A. Gayou, F. W. Green, A. E. Happel, G. D. Harris, K. S. Howard, E. R. Handlan, H. H. Hagan, W. R. Humphrey, Dr. Scott Heuer, J. D. Kincade, A. B. Lambert, A. H. McCreery, A. J. Moore, Dr. F. T. Murphy, J. E. Montgomery, Dr. W. H. Olmstead, A. Von Schrader, A. J. Stack, R. S. Stratton, Dr. J. E. Stewart, E. W. Smith, F. T. Thorborn, W. S. Thomas, Dr. H. C. Thomas, B. Willis C. L. Wolff, L. M. Watts, Ed Limberg, H. R. Niedringhaus, R. L. Woodward.

Tennis—E. C. Atkins, O. J. Anderson, P. D. Boyd, F. Bryan, C. W. Brown, A. Chouteau, Dr. O. H. Campbell, Walter Crunden, P. Clark, J. B. Dailey, A. P. Gamble, C. E. Giralden, F. W. Garner, N. B. Gregg, E. F. Knight, H. H. Knight, J. S. Lehman, J. S. Lionberger, W. R. Mayne, H. Pettus, H. C. Phillips, Towner Phelan, Charles Perry, T. Reyburn, Fred Riesmeyer, E. A. Rice, A. W. Shapleigh, R. G. Southet, Ed Thomas, Theodore White, J. C. Willing, Dr. H. M. Young, Dr. L. W. Schreiber, Ed Tilton, R. S. McCormack, Milton Stern, R. Hanna, A. L. Bannantine, C. H. Duncker Jr., J. F. Sullivan.

Baseball—J. F. Ailsworth, R. Anderson, R. L. Daly.

ALPEN BRAU FIVE BEATS KENRICK BY BIG SCORE

Only two of the four games scheduled in the Municipal Basketball League were played last night. At the Central Y. M. C. A., the Alpen Braus had an easy time with the Kenrick five, defeating them 49 to 13. The Missouri Athletic Association won a close contest from the Weekes, 37 to 33, this game having been played at the Columbian A. C.

The Columbian A. C., and the Missouri Council were scheduled to meet at the Y. M. C. A., but this game was postponed because most of the council team are away from the city on holiday vacations. The Y. M. H. A. forfeited to the Wagners at the Columbian A. C., because they did not have enough men present to make up a team.

ST. LEOS WILL OPPOSE JOLIET ELEVEN TOMORROW

The St. Leos will oppose the Joliet soccer team in the first of two games at Cardinal Field tomorrow, according to a decision made by officials of the St. Louis Soccer League. The games will be for inter-city championship honors.

The Innisfails will meet the visitors on New Year's day. Bill Bascom is down to referee tomorrow's contest.

FRANK CAYOU TO DIRECT SPORTS AT ILLINOIS A. C.

CHICAGO, Dec. 29.—Official announcement was made today of the appointment of Frank Cayou, former football coach at Washington University as athletic director of the Illinois Athletic club. He succeeds John Mahan who resigned. Cayou will assume his duties at the club January 6.

K.-K.S PLAY UNIONS.

The only game in the Saturday division of the Municipal Soccer League this afternoon will be that between the Keen Kutters and Union Electrics on grounds No. 3 at Fairground.

FULTON TO MEET FRANK MORAN IN 20-ROUND FIGHT

Heavyweights Signed for Derby Bout in New Orleans on Jan. 29.

BATTLES TATE JAN. 10

Minnesota Title Aspirant Will Renew Argument With Little Rock Foe in Joplin.

Fred Fulton, the Minnesota heavyweight title aspirant has been matched to box Frank Moran in a 20-round bout in New Orleans, according to an announcement from the Crescent City this morning. Fulton and Moran will clash on Jan. 29.

For many weeks an effort has been made to coax Frank Moran back into the ring. However, all efforts up to this time have been fruitless. Fulton has time and again asserted his willingness to meet Moran and expressed a preference to have the bout go more than 10 rounds.

Will Clear Up Claim.

If the contest goes through, it will do more than anything else to clear up the claim of Fulton that he should have first chance in a bout with Willard. If he can defeat Moran, the last obstacle will have been removed and Willard practically will either be forced to fight Fulton or forfeit his title, which is the very thing Fulton claims Willard has done by his failure to accept one of four offers made to him for a bout with the Minnesota heavyweight.

A dispatch from Joplin, Mo., this morning carried the news that Fulton and Texas Tate would renew their argument in that city Jan. 13. This time it will be over the 15-round route, bouts of this distance being permitted in Joplin.

Causes Much Talk.

Fulton's unpleasantness in the Tate encounter in Little Rock has caused no end of discussion in fistic circles. According to reports from those who saw the fiasco, Fulton was plainly to blame, in fact, Tate has been under the care of a physician ever since the bout was staged.

Only yesterday, it was announced that Tate would be unable to get back in the ring before the end of Jaunary. However, he has probably decided it would be best to accept the Joplin offer and meet Fulton over the derby route.

KID BANDY, LOCAL BOXER, ENLISTS IN THE NAVY

Kid Bandy has joined the navy, thereby reducing the local fistic colony one more. Bandy's decision to enlist with Uncle Sam was made yesterday and he immediately sought the nearest recruiting station. He has served in the Navy before, making a trip around the world on the battleship Missouri.

He says he realizes the navy needs experienced men and he couldn't resist the call. Bandy was married only a year ago. He is scheduled to leave here January 3.

Britton Has Hard Bout.

Jack Britton, former welterweigh champion, will take on Jimmy Duffy, the tough Lockport, N. Y., welter, in a 10-round, no-decision battle at Buffalo on New Year's Day.

LAST NIGHT'S FIGHTS

ODGEN, UTAH—Paddy Gilbert, Salt Lake, won referee's decision over Jimmy Regan, of St. Louis, in 20 rounds.

KANSAS STAR ENLISTS.

LAWRENCE, Kan., Dec. 29.—Jack Frost, right tackle of the 1917 University of Kansas football team, has gone to San Diego to enlist in a regular army truck company of which his two brothers are members.

STEIN AND MARINO TO START SPECIAL PIN MATCH TODAY

Local Star Will Oppose Windy City Bowler in 15 Games on Washington Alleys.

DOUBLES CLASH SUNDAY

Schaefer Will Pair With Local Pintoppler and Collier With the Visitor.

The first inter-city bowling match to be staged in this city in several years will be started on the Washington alleys tonight, when Otto Stein Jr. of St. Louis and Hank Marino of Chicago meet in the first 15 games of their 30 games total pins to count battle for a purse of $400. The second half of the match will be rolled in Chicago a week from Monday.

Stein this season is shooting the best tenpins of his career and for the season in the Major City League he has an average of close to 200. He also has done well in different ragtime events, while he also is a member of the first all-star team which is rolling against another in a series of Red Cross benefit contests.

In Marino, however, Stein is opposing one of the best pintopplers in the Windy City and one who in 1914 with Sykes Thomna won the two-man championship of the American Bowling Congress. Marino appeared here last year in the Middle-West tournament and made good marks in all his events. According to recent averages in the Chicago circuits, Marino is going better than 190.

Doubles Match Tomorrow.

While the singles match will feature tomorrow night, on Sunday evening Stein paired with Harry Schaefer will oppose Marino and "Chuck" Collier in a two-man match of 10 games. Following his acceptance of Stein's challenge to a singles match, Marino suggested the two-man event and it was taken up. Collier has been seen here before in special matches and is one of the best shooters in the Windy City. Schaefer is a member of the Wooster Lamberts and Bobby Byrnes and considered a good "money" bowler.

Stein picked Schaefer as his partner when he found that the veteran Jerry Ameling would be unable to make the trip to Chicago for the matches on Jan. 7 and 8. Had the matches been next Saturday and Sunday Ameling would have made the trip, but business caused him to make his decision of not going to the Windy City. Ten games will be rolled in the doubles event in Chicago.

The last inter-city match of any importance was held here in 1912, when a local team won from Chicago in the five-man and two-man only to have Elmer Vaughn beaten in the singles. On the Windy City outfit that came here were such stars as Jimmy Blouin, Chuck Collier, Frank Steers, Frank Thoma and others.

An admission of 25 cents will be charged to the matches both tonight and tomorrow evening.

Mathewson Enters Team.

With Garry Herrman, president of the Reds, one of the prominent figures behind the coming A. B. C. tournament in Cincinnati, Christy Mathewson has entered a team of ball players in the coming event. With Mathewson will be Ed. Rousch, champion batter of the National League; Hiene Groh, Hal Chase, Tom Griffith and Lee Magee of the Browns.

Bobby Bryne, who is now a bowling alley owner in this city, intends to enter a team in the city tournament and if the "five" makes a good showing, he will send the quintet to Cincinnati. Ollie O'Mara, George Sisler, Red Smyth and several other players living here are good tenpinners.

Willard Starts Active Training Course in Gymnasium in Chicago

Jess Willard has actually begun training. Hard to believe, but the heavyweight champion dropped into a Chicago gymnasium this week and arranged for a daily workout. There were no casualties reported in the rush to view the unique sight of big Jess really going through the paces.

Willard's first workout consisted chiefly of bag punching and rope skipping. According to reports from the Windy City, he will not attempt any boxing until the latter part of next week. Andre Anderson and Walter Monahan have been engaged to form the opposition for the champion when he dons the gloves.

Condition Is a Surprise.

Boxing critics who watched Willard in his first workout were amazed at his condition. While Jess packed a decided bulge just abaft the belt, there was very little "flabby" flesh on his chest and shoulders and training experts opine he can reduce the watermelon with a little extra effort.

Jess refused to step on the scales during his workout or after. However, he expressed the opinion that he did not weigh very much more than when he fought Frank Moran in Madison Square Garden over a year ago. Experts recalled that Jess tipped the scales at 259 on that occasion.

Before he entered the gymnasium, Willard's weight had been variously reported as between 280 and 350 pounds. It was admitted that his circus life was not conducive to fitting him physically, but it seems such has not been the case.

Just what Willard is working for no one seems to know. Present indications are that his offer to appear in a Red Cross bout will not carry beyond the incipient stage. However, Jess is a peculiar chap and may have some surprise stored away that he does not care to reveal at present.

Army Bout Progressing.

That bout between Packey McFarland and Mike Gibbons may yet become a reality. Latest reports from Chicago indicate that Gov. Lowden will grant a permit for the contest once it has been officially brought to his attention. McFarland and Gibbons have agreed to turn over every cent of the proceeds to the athletic funds at Camps MacArthur and Dodge.

Chicago bugs are hoping that the affair may be staged at the Coliseum and they believe it will be worth a $300,000 gate at the very least. There is small chance for it to go through before February, at least.

Welling Promoted.

Joe Welling, the Chicago lightweight, is now a Chief Master of Arms on the U. S. S. Granite State. Joe has been promoted three times since joining Uncle Sam's navy and hopes to climb even higher. Little Harry Thomas, his trainer, is with him.

As J. Johnston Sees It.

Jimmy Johnston, the "Boy Bandit," says Jess Willard is a bar manager. "Jess pulled a boner for sure," chirps Jimmy. "He should have offered to fight anybody anywhere but stipulated that it must be a 25-round fight. Then he should have offered to let any promoter name the place. Since 25-round bouts aren't permitted anywhere in the country, Jess would have had an alibi for failing to fight. It's bad work."

SPORT SALAD

BY L. C. Davis

A Christmas (Lewis) Carroll.

THE Walrus and the Carpenter
Upon a car did meet;
They took a seat abaft the stove
To warm their frigid feet;
And this was passing odd because

The Walrus said the mercury
Was evidently higher;
Whereat the other passengers
Were noticed to perspire.
And THIS was rather strange because
There wasn't any fire.

"Oh, Carpenter," the Walrus said,
"I feel a polar breeze;
Do you suppose this company
Would care if we should freeze?"
"I doubt it," said the Carpenter,
And snoze and bitter sneeze.

U. S. Takes Over Laurel Track For Use of Soldiers

By a Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 28.—The War Department has under consideration the commandeering of many large race tracks of the country that are located near National Army and National Guard training camps or points where the Government is now engaged in the training of soldiers for service in France.

The Laurel, Md., track near Camp Meade, was taken over today by the Government for the use as a maneuver field and testing ground for engineer regiments now in process of formation at Camp Meade and in Washington.

The tracks of Long Island, because of their proximity to Yaphank and the fact that they offer desirable advantages in acreage and housing facilities for the men, are now under consideration as the next race courses to be utilized if the emergency warrants it.

The arrangements made with the owners of the Laurel track will in no way interfere with the racing programs planned for the future at the track. The engineers will be housed in the stables and other buildings of the property, or temporary barracks will be erected.

One More Player Needed to Fill 3-Cushion Field

Just one more player remains to be certified before the field of starters is completed in the City Three-cushion League. The Grand Palaces filed the names of their players this morning. They are C. A. Allen and Bert Hoffman, with A. Broadhead named as an alternate.

Officials of the Missouri Athletic Association have declined an invitation to enter the league, explaining that the membership rule must be adhered to and outsiders would be unable to view the contests. Consequently, just half a dozen rooms will be represented, but 12 players will take part in the tournament and they are among the best three-cushion talent in the city.

Peterson's Parlors have not yet selected one of their representatives. This is due to the fact that at least half a dozen players are capable of holding their own against the best in the city and consequently, it is hard to make a choice. However, William Heilmich is one of their entries while the other will be made known tomorrow.

The list of players now reads: B. Lamorere and Jack Butterfield from the Mercantile Club; Adolph Boeckler and Johnny Simon from the Rex; Elmer Farrar and "Doc" Mackin from Arata's; Jules Jaquier and Thomas Sperry from the Maryland and J. Allen and Bert Hoffman from the Grand. A schedule will be drafted early next week.

LETTERS FROM THE PEOPLE.

Toilers Who Hunt.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

I note the following statement in the "Rod and Gun" department of the St. Louis Globe-Democrat (Dec. 23), which I wish to protest against in the name of clean, decent, American sportsmanship and fair play for all classes, rich and poor alike. The newspaper uses these words:

"When Jake and Jim from the roundhouse or the blacksmith shop cannot go out any morning and get unlimited quail, ducks, rabbits, etc., they get sore at the Government and want to join the I. W. W."

This is what I call a most outrageous accusation against those who toil for a living, but who are capable of being as good and true Americans and sportsmen as those who have been more fortunate in accumulating wealth.

For many years I edited the "Rod and Gun" section of the Globe-Democrat and I was also Chief Deputy Game and Fish Commissioner of Missouri, as well as drafting and helping to enact the present game and fish law. I claim the honorable record of making more arrests and convictions under this law during eight years, as well as confiscating illegal shipments, than was made by any other Game Commissioner during a similar period anywhere in the United States. Under the circumstances I think I am competent to state "who is who" in game law violations, as well as "who is who" in upholding our game and fish conservation.

The working men are not antagonistic to the game and fish laws, but are generally stanch supporters of them, because they appreciate the necessity of protecting the supply close to their homes, in their own state. It is a business proposition with them from a sport standpoint. They must hunt or fish near home. They cannot afford to travel to the Gulf Coast, to Canada, nor to the African jungles. Neither can they visit any European game preserve, nor do they desire to do so, nor to create European conditions in our country.

The kind of men who work in "the roundhouse and the blacksmith shop" and at other mechanical pursuits are the sort of people who are going to be foremost in helping to make the world safe for democracy. It would seem as though an apology is due to the working people who are accused in a brainstorm newspaper article as being "against the Government."

Very respectfully,

E. T. GRETHER.

Soldiers' and Sailors' Club.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

Due to difficulties under which the officers at Jefferson Barracks have been working recently, it has been my good fortune to spend the last few days in St. Louis, and I desire to thank publicly, through your columns, the public-spirited citizens who have so unselfishly contributed to the relief of us enlisted men. I want, especially, to thank the ladies who are giving so unstintedly of time and money to make the Soldiers' and Sailors' Club the much appreciated institution it is. Long may we have it with us.

AN ENLISTED MAN.

Motor Mechanics' Regiment.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

We, the undersigned, have been residents of the city of St. Louis for the past 25 years and no doubt would still be a resident but our enlistment in the national army has taken us many miles away from our birthplace.

I ask you as a special favor to give our greetings to our friends through one of the editions of your paper.

The regiment to which we belong is known as the First Motor Mechanics' Regiment of the Signal Corps, whose duties are to repair all disabled airplanes. There are men in this organization from every state in the Union, and we have the honor of being the first organization of this kind in existence.

EDW. F. O'NEILL, LESTER A. MESSENGER.

Submarine Chaser No. 324.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

I thought I would drop you a line and ask if you know of anybody around St. Louis who has a phonograph he would like to donate to the crew of submarine chaser No. 324. I would have asked somebody nearer here for one, but the people of the East boast that they are more patriotic than the West, so I thought I would write and see.

We have been patrolling the coast for the last month and are going to leave soon for the other side and would like to take some music with us.

FROM A ST. LOUISAN.

Submarine Chaser No. 324, care Postmaster, New York.

SILVER AT $1 AN OUNCE.

A Government agreement to purchase silver at $1 an ounce is reported. Western silver producers are said to be "satisfied" with the arrangement. They ought to be.

While this agreement comes at a time to align itself with other experimental attempts at Government price-fixing, it was the contention of the bimetalists that Governments had always been engaged in price-fixing in respect to silver, quite obviously under free coinage and more indirectly and less successfully under the system of purchase for coinage at bullion value.

To those familiar with the financial legislation of the world during the last 50 years, and especially since 1893, this doubling in the value of silver is enormously interesting.

After the low quotations on the metal recorded in the closing decade of the last century, silver gradually crept up until the figure at which sales were made averaged 66.79 cents an ounce for the year 1906 and 65.321 cents for the year 1907. Then a slump came again, attributed in part to the effect of the great output in the Cobalt district of Ontario and in part to reduced purchases for the mints of India.

The average quotation ranged for some years later in the vicinity of the old figure—50 cents an ounce. It shared the depression of other commodities in the first months of the European war and subsequently showed the effect of the advance from which the entire family of metals, practically without exception, benefited.

Since the suspension of huge silver purchases on a bullion basis in 1893, no action affecting silver can be compared in importance to this decision fixing the $1-an-ounce price. The Government has considered factors entering into the price of which the market had not taken cognizance. Some of those factors are not yet operative. In other words, the Government, at a time when silver was quoted at from 80 to 85 cents, has discounted future influences by establishing $1 as a permanent price.

Silver at $1 an ounce does not mean that the silver contained in a $1 coin is worth $1. The silver in such a coin weighs less than an ounce. As a matter of fact, at $1 an ounce the intrinsic value of the 371 1-4 grains of fine silver in $1 is worth about 80 cents. At times it has been less than 40 cents.

It is impossible not to believe that this is the first step in a move to give the world the acknowledged benefits of bimetalism—availability for use as money of the stocks of two metals instead of one—without bimetalism's recognized disadvantages, the chief of which is the constant fluctuation of the one or the other metal from any arbitrarily established parity between their values.

MEANING OF MILK DEPRIVATION.

What the falling off in milk consumption, estimated at 7000 gallons a day, due to increase in price, may mean to the children of St. Louis is shown by the experience of Seattle.

In that city hundreds of the school children were found to be nervous and unruly. Investigation showed that they were getting sufficient food, but of the wrong quality. What they needed was milk, and when the supply was increased, in their homes, to the extent of 5000 bottles a day, they became quiet, attentive to studies, eager for outdoor exercise and heavier and stronger. Some gained as much as 15 pounds in a few weeks. Their minds and bodies showed the good effect of a proper diet.

This should be taken into account by the Food Administration and all concerned, in the effort to undo the mischief brought about by the increase in prices. All children, poor or well-to-do, need plenty of milk. There is no real substitute.

THE NATIONAL HOME GUARD.

Recruiting has been begun in St. Louis for the United States Guards, an organization similar to the Home Guards, but country-wide in its scope. It is expected to enlist 15,000 men between the ages of 31 and 40 and the rate of pay will be the same that exists in the army.

Members of the United States Guard will be used for service in the United States, guarding munition factories, bridges, water fronts and other domestic points of strategy. Efforts will be made to assign men to duty in their home towns or as near to them as possible.

The guard presents an excellent opportunity for service to men beyond the draft age. By joining this force an American will not only be rendering necessary aid to his country but will release a younger man for duty in the trenches.

There is no concealing the fact that there are anarchistic and pro-German agitators in this country who are prepared to do all in their power to cripple the war preparations of the United States, and it is against the activities of these men that the national home guard force is being organized.

St. Louisans have answered every call for service with enthusiasm and there is no question but that this city will provide its quota for this very essential new arm of the service with alacrity.

AUSTRALIA AND CONSCRIPTION.

A curious feature of Australia's second rejection of conscription is that the percentage of the "no" vote in the early soldier returns is larger than the percentage of the "no" in the full civilian returns. Of 40,000 soldiers voting in Europe, 23,000 were recorded in the negative and only 17,000 in the affirmative. That individualism is strongly developed in that country may be one conclusion, but then we must remember that Australia has a conscription system under which men are called to universal military training. After being trained in arms and carefully instructed in his obligation to the state, it has been left to each man's sense of duty to determine whether he should make his services available in Europe. The late referendum was merely to decide whether he should still retain this option or whether he should be forced to go if he decided to remain at home.

Australia has done amazingly well under this variation in the volunteer system. It has sent several hundred thousand trained men to fight in the allied armies and it has been computed that one trained Australian is worth at least two and a fraction trained Germans and maybe more. Generous as Australia has been, measuring in the amount of man material furnished, it has been even more generous in the quality of the material.

IF STREET CARS ARE FEDERALIZED.

This is from the President's proclamation taking over the steam railroads of the country:

Nothing herein shall be construed as now affecting the possession, operation and control of street electric passenger railways, including railways commonly called interurban, whether such railways be or be not controlled by such (steam) railroad companies or systems. By subsequent order and proclamation, if and when it shall be found necessary or desirable, possession, control or operation may be taken of all or any part of such street railway systems, including subways and tunnels.

The general effect, possible consequences, and permanency of the war measure that became operative Friday noon cannot now be affirmed. Whatever its success, we may be reasonably certain that the old before-the-war status will never be completely restored.

This time of revolutionary change is no time to be entering into new arrangements affecting transport facilities still under local or state control, except on a positive showing of the most substantial benefits to the public. From all parts of the country suggestions are already heard that Railroad Director McAdoo be appealed to for relief from arrangements of long standing disadvantageous to the public in the operation of steam lines. Should the street railways be taken over, one of the first appeals to the Director should not come from St. Louis, praying that we be saved from the consequences of our own blunders in dealing with the United Railways Co.

And few things are more certain than that, if the new United Railways franchise had been passed in the form proposed last fall, Federal operation of street car lines would be quickly followed by petitions from St. Louisans asking that ill-advised features of that franchise sacrificing service to dividends should be abrogated or ignored.

Brest-Litovsk, surrendered to the Germans in 1915 through treachery, is an ideal spot to set a treacherous peace trap.

A LOYAL SON OF THE VALLEY.

It happened that the most earnest advocate of legislation looking to internal navigation improvements and effective flood control was a man from a state which has no rivers and whose chief problem is persistency of aridity and not recurrence of freshets.

Perhaps no one in public life had studied these subjects more painstakingly from the scientific standpoint. This man was Francis Griffith Newlands of Nevada.

The fact that he was born in Natchez, Miss., may have given him youthful impressions that explain his early personal interest in river betterments, but the greater part of his life was spent in surroundings that divested him of local considerations and influences and enabled him to view the question from the national standpoint. He was a legislator of all-round usefulness, equipped for intelligent voting on many measures, but, barring perhaps the silver question, which had enthusiastic attention during some years of his life, he was identified with no other public question as closely as with this question of Congress' duty toward interior waters.

He lived to see a signal triumph for his views at Washington, and the Mississippi Valley, which has reason to hold this one of its native sons in grateful memory, regrets that his life was not spared to see the actual execution of the great task completed under the recent legislation he did so much to promote.

No peace plan proposed by Germany to Russia can possibly please Bulgaria. The time is coming and that not far off when Wilhelm is going to regret bitterly having got Ferdinand into the war.

LIBERTY FEET.

It is with pleasure one observes that big feet are becoming fashionable. For some months now civilians have been eager to adopt military togs as far as possible and, without meaning any pun, it may be said they have gone a long way in the matter of footwear. Many a man whose wife had insisted for years upon him wearing those abominations of the narrow, pinching "English" variety is rejoicing in the virile independence of an army shoe which allows his foot to spread wherever it will in careless abandon.

Like all other reforms this one had to come gradually. At first even rookies, who had endured untold tortures trying to conceal from a hypercritical world that a No. 10 was about their size, demurred when military outfitters compelled them to adopt a No. 12. Now some of them are wearing No. 14's and are proud of it. Such a man is said to have "liberty feet," and is supposed to be pre-eminently fitted to impose them upon that part of the Kaiserlich anatomy where it will do most good. They look with complacent satisfaction upon feet encased in gear that formerly would have been called "canal-boats" or by some other equally offensive term of derision.

And why not? We speak of big hearts and big brains as desirable attributes, so why not say the same of big hands and big feet? It is because of an ancient superstition that they bespeak a yokelish ancestry? We here and now challenge our bluest-blooded, highest-pedigreed aristocrats to come forward en masse and submit to the test!

Here's to the man with a "liberty foot" and enough freedom from mincing prejudice to admit it! As to the ladies—perhaps that is another story, but we shall never know the truth of it until the clerks at the shoe stores come out and reveal the secrets of their confessionals.

PANETELA.

YES, Luella,
Things are moving
In a way
To gain applause;
Now we have
The railroad business
Taken over
For the cause.
Mr. McAdoo
Will run it
In the service
Of the state,
And the labels
On the Pullmans
Shall commemorate
The great.

Where we used
To raid the classics
Of their legendary lore,
Now we'll have
The politicians
Neatly mentioned
On the door.
Where we used
To rest with Homer
And the unforgotten Greeks,
Now we'll close
Our eyes with Borah,
And our dreams
Shall be with Weekes.

Nevermore,
My little girlie,
In the watches
Of the night,
Shall we have
The songs of Sappho
Come to soothe us
In our flight.
All the imagery
Of Egypt
And the Indies
Will have flown,
And we'll ride
Within the bosom
Of our William
Joel Stone.

Never mind,
My sweet Luella,
World is never
Twice the same;
Other queens
Than Cleopatra
Earn their modicum
Of fame.
When the way
Is long and weary,
And the wind
Is cold and raw,
Who shall doubt
The warmth and comfort
Of the Dr. Anna Shaw?

Life is real,
Life is earnest,
And the past
Is not its goal;
Who shall grieve
For Arethusa
In the McAdoodled whole?
Let us hope
We shall not find it
Necessary to proceed
Through the pleasant
Fields of Dreamland
With the bad boy
Jimmie Reed.

NEW BOOKS WE OUGHT TO HAVE.

Sir: Two titles from an Agricultural Department bulletin seem appropriate, in view of the present international unfriendliness. The first publication, dealing with an insect well known in the trenches, should be incorporated in every expeditionary library. As for the second, it appears particularly pertinent—in fact, it has a "boomerang" sound which even Von Hindenburg may hear. Its price belies its value:

"Fleas and their Control," by F. C. Bishop, entomologist.

"Swine—Judging Suggestions for Pig Club," by J. D. McVean and F. G. Ashbrook. Price 5 cents.

A PSALM OF PEACE.

BRITONS! Americans! Arise!
Come! Look each other in the eyes!
Clasp heart and hand!
Join soul and brain in moral might;
Join truth and love the wrong to smite;
Unite for God, and human right,
In every land.

The star of hope that shines afar,
Serene and high
We hail the brighter, better day
When right and truth shall have the sway
And hearts estranged shall find the way
Of drawing nigh.

O God of battle! strike the blow
That lays all proud oppressors low,
And speed the right.
Speak Thou the word, and we shall run
With man and ship, and sword and gun;
The world shall know that we are one
In holy might.

O God of nations! Thee we own;
Under the shadow of Thy throne
We take our stand.
Give us the courage, grace, and skill
Our mission nobly to fulfill
And speak Thy Gospel of good will
To every land.

Men of the Anglo-Saxon race
With loyal hearts in every place
Where shines the sun.
In isles at home, or lands afar,
The trader, farmer, jolly tar,
Come! Let us join for peace or war!
Our cause is one!

Britons, Americans, so blest
At God's supreme divine behest
Would see unfurled
The flag of peace and liberty,
The setting of the captive free,
The reign of love from sea to sea
O'er all the world.

CANNOT HELP GERMANY.

From the Scientific American.

SO long as we speak in general terms, Russia as a source of supplies for Germany appears formidable indeed; but when we descend to details, and particularize as to just what supplies the bodies is to get from Russia, and how he is to get them, we discern a great light. Is it food that is to be supplied by the new republic? We think not. The summer just past has not been a season of hard labor in Russia; her workers have been working in the same way that her fighters have been fighting—with fine phrases. All men of all factions have been too busy with talking to pay much attention to the sordid details of work. Even now the Bolsheviki cry for bread, and whence is it to come? Already the food situation in Moscow and Petrograd is reported as desperate. Hungry already, Russia will be hungrier before she is fed, and the thought of Germany drawing sustenance from her is a ludicrous one.

But, persists the calamity howler, think of all the other resources of Russia! Germany can come in and help herself to coal and iron and petroleum and platinum and copper and all the other things of which she has such need. Again we beg to differ. Until coal and oil and metals are able to take legs unto themselves and walk from the Urals and the Caspian to the Rhine, Germany will do nothing of the sort. It takes railroads to move all these things—railroads with tracks and rolling stock, and, above all, locomotives in good shape. The fact that Russia is crying for 1500 engines to save her from ruin is but faint measure of her transportation conditions. Materials of which there has been most urgent need have lain for two years at Archangel because they could not be moved. Transportation conditions in France are bad. In Germany they are worse. In Russia they are in a state of indescribable demoralization. At the worst then, the Russian situation does not threaten us. Nothing which can happen in Russia can by any possibility afford Germany a source of supply for any of the things of which she stands in such dire need.

Japan's Attitude.

From the New York American.

THE attitude maintained by Japan during this world conflict is interesting. The policy steadily pursued by the Japanese statesmen is unique and consistent. At the outset of the war Japan became one of the Allies automatically, by the operation of the offensive and defensive treaty of alliance negotiated with Great Britain in 1905. The provisions of this treaty practically divided control of Asia between Japan and England. It seems more than likely that this war will result in Japan being one of the dominant trading nations of the world, one of the dominant manufacturing nations of the world, with a control of the Pacific trade even greater than ours. The attitude of Japan is not altruistic, is not self-sacrificing, is not entirely in accord with our Occidental ideals, but it is exceedingly shrewd and wholly patriotic from a Japanese point of view.

Peace Prayers.

From the Galveston News.

PRAYER, the real earnest desire of the heart, is the strongest defense a mortal can possess, and wisely directed prayer is going to be the most potent influence in terminating the war; but in the appeal for the peace prayers that are being urged by the Germans, even the church prelates scent danger. Cardinal Gibbons has issued a statement to his diocese warning all Catholics to throw petitions for an endless chain of peace prayers into the waste basket as they are only German instruments to hamper our victorious military preparations and are indicated by "seditious and wrong-minded persons." Chain letters have from time to time preyed upon the superstitions of the public mind through the inclusion of dire threats to the one who breaks the continuity of the chain; and it is fully in keeping with German methods that they should seek to enlist the weakness and ignorance of some of our citizens, endeavoring to make of it a leaven to disturb the entire sentiment of the nation. Again, Germany has reckoned without the full value of sincere and earnest petition to the Heavenly Father, and will employ it constantly in their deep desire for a lasting and righteous peace; while those who would be weak enough to play into the enemy's hands are fully safeguarded by intellectual and progressive leaders, who are constantly on the alert to justify their exalted position by rendering paternal and loving service to their flock. Peace prayers swell up in every heart night and day; the real hungering desire of the soul for a restoration of life to its normal and kindly pursuits; but with the qualifying condition that the peace be made lasting through the utter abolition and complete destruction of those evil forces which plunged us into the desperate struggle and lined us up shoulder to shoulder in this most determined fight to a finish.

TWO RIBBONS AND FATE

By F. H. Sweet.

HARRINGTON dropped into a chair by the open window, threw his feet into another chair and lit a cigar impatiently. He had come to the village for its isolation, and chosen this particular house for its embowering roses, and now, after only seven days, the adjoining house was to have a boarder, too.

He pushed aside the clustering vines and looked out. The entire end of the house was covered with clambering roses, there were patches and pyramids and trailing sprays of them in the yard, and what had once been a tottering, time-broken picket fence between the two houses was now a bank of red roses. Harrington's eyes softened appreciatively. It was a charming spot after the season at that Maine coast resort, with its buffeting of wind and waves, and after the—the——

His face grew hard, and unconsciously his hand rose to the curtain above his head. But it only encountered the cheap lace, and he looked up quickly. A step sounded at the door, and his landlady's little daughter came in to do the room.

The child came forward quickly.

"Why, it was right here on the curtain when I brought up the lamp last night," she answered. "I looked at it and thought what a pretty neck ribbon it would make. And 'twas all silk. Maybe you didn't have it pinned on good and the wind blew it out. Shall I go down in the yard and look?"

"No, I was just going down myself," and he rose and stepped toward the door.

"Was it valuable?" Janie asked, with much concern in her voice.

"Yes, very—or no, not in that way. But it was a keepsake, you know."

"Did your sweetheart give it to you?" the child went on, adding quickly: "I thought maybe she did, because the second day you were here, when it rained and you got so lonesome, you pinned it on the curtain, and you've kept it there and looked at it kind of hungry, like sweethearts do, ever since."

Harrington had turned red. Now he laughed, constrainedly.

"No, I haven't any sweetheart, Janie. It's only just a bit of ribbon. You see," desperately, as her eyes still questioned him, "I was up on the Maine coast last season, and there was a girl—just an acquaintance, you know—and we went boating together and played golf and things. The ribbon must have got among my traps some way. When I was unpacking that rainy day I happened to run across it and pinned it on the curtain. You see it matches the roses so nicely."

"And you love her and she loves you," Janie said rapturously, "and that ribbon's the token. O I'd like to see her! Where is she now, and what's her name?"

"I DON'T know where she is," gruffly; "in Europe, I expect, though. She spoke about going there last year. And her name is Margaret. I came out here for the quiet, and the trout fishing, and the —the roses. I like roses. But you are wholly mistaken about my—her loving me."

"And it'll come out all right in the end and be happy." Janie continued joyously, and ignoring him. "It's just too lovely for anything! And the ribbon will be the—the link. Was her piece just like yours?"

"Why, I—I"— helplessly: "what do you mean?"

"Her piece of ribbon," impatiently. "What's the use to act so ign'rant. The ribbon was wrinkled like it had been dropped in water and then dried in somebody's pocket, and one end was ragged and sawed off. That's were 'twas cut. Anybody could see it wasn't snipped off with scissors. Was her piece long as yours?"

"I—I—suppose so. Now you speak of it I do remember the ribbon dropped into the water while we were out boating, and I fished it out and"——

"Chopped it in two with your knife," triumphantly.

"Y—yes."

"And you put yours next your heart, and Margaret pretended to hold hers carelessly in her hand, then slipped it away, and"——

But Harrington had dodged from the room, and she could hear him going down the stairs, two or three at a time.

At the corner of the house he glanced up apprehensively toward his window. But Janie was not there. He could hear her broom already vigorously at work, and her voice humming joyous little snatches of song. A few moments of apprehensive scrutiny, and then he stole forward and searched the grass under his window. But the ribbon was not there, nor clinging to the vines above.

The next house was almost concealed by the foliage of apple trees. One of these dropped low branches over the rose-draped fence, forming an effectual shade and screen. It was Harrington's favorite place to read, and he went there now.

But he was in no mood for reading, and the magazine lay with open pages on his knees, while his gaze went thoughtfully into the foliage above. A few moments, and then he started suddenly and rose to his feet. Directly over the rose hedge was a pendant vireo's nest. He had seen it several times before; but now, on one side, was a bright spot, which a closer examination discovered as his ribbon, deftly woven into the straw and moss. The mother vireo was the thief.

"O WHAT a pretty nest," came in a clear, familiar voice from the other side of the hedge. "And look at that piece of ribbon! Isn't it cute? It's almost like"—— A tapering white hand rose toward the nest, and Harrington dropped back upon the grass. "Why," a trace of wondering incredulity in the voice, "it seems exactly like—I must go in and get mine and see."

The hand disappeared, and Harrington could hear light footsteps hurrying away. A few minutes later they returned, and the hand rose again toward the low nest, this time holding a piece of ribbon, which was held beside the other, with the ragged ends together.

"It is—it is the ribbon," a tremulous voice gasped.

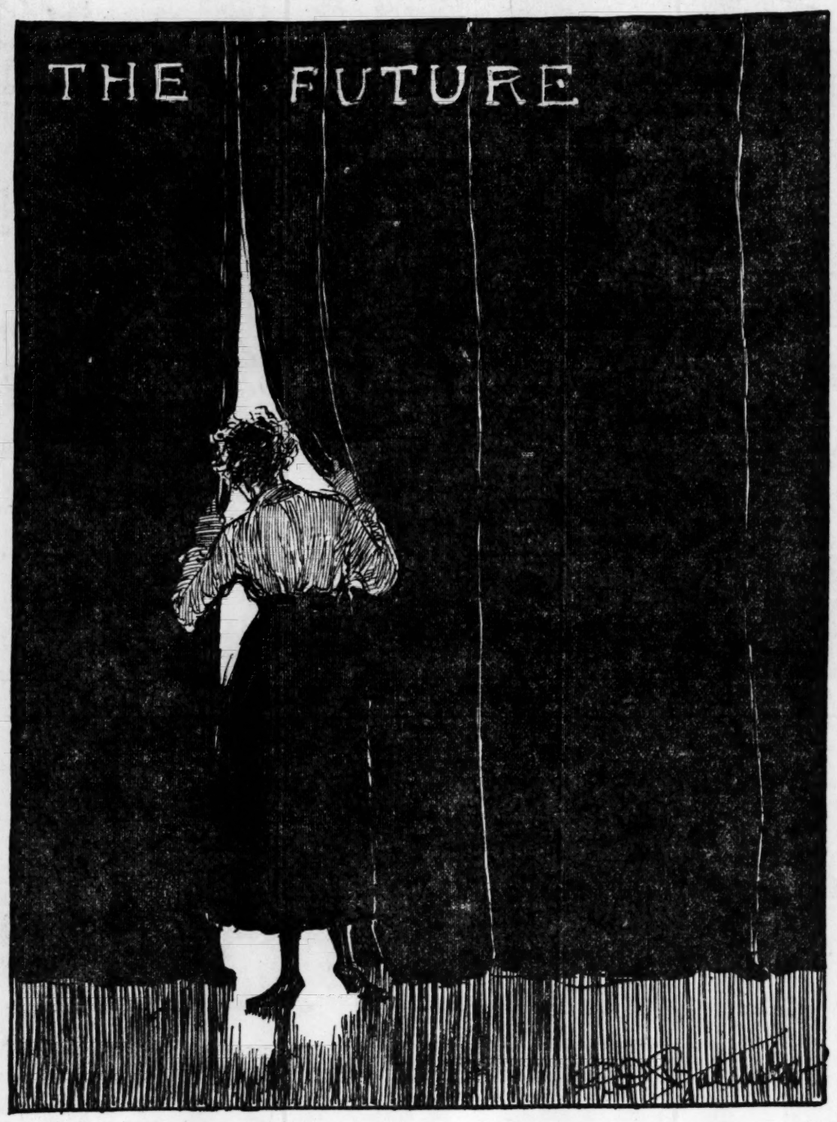
"Margaret," Harrington called softly, as he rose from the grass.

There were a few seconds of portentious silence, then:

"O, Tom!—Mr. Harrington, I mean, I—I— don't understand. Won't you come over here and explain?"

A Peep Into the Future

By C. D. BATCHELOR



AT HEART, we are all cheaters. We are not content to reason out the future by the relation of cause to effect but run to signs, omens and fortune-tellers. It we look back in our own experience we will look in vain for fortune to follow folly, or disaster to follow wisdom. Apropos of this, Mark Twain once said a truly funny and truly wise thing:

"We should be careful to get out of an experience, only the wisdom that is in it and stop there, lest we be like the cat, that sits down on a hot stove lid. She will never sit down on a hot stove lid again. And that is well. But also, she will never sit down on a cold one any more."

How to Raise Children

THE United States Bureau of Education at Washington, under direction of Commissioner Claxton, has issued a series of papers on "How to Raise Little Children," prepared by veteran kindergarten teachers. They have been running in the Post-Dispatch for several months. Following is the latest of the series:

By MRS. V. OMA GRACE OLIVER.

PARENTS must not look down upon the child and consider his efforts, trials and sorrows petty; we must try to understand how sincerely they put all their hearts into their play and that the losses that seem so trivial to us are of great moment to them. We must learn to share all their experiences with them if we would develop the fine feelings we wish them to have at maturity.

Children must not be shut off in one part of the house to remain aloof until a certain age, but ought to be a part of the family circle, sharing its joys, work and minor sorrows. I do not mean that children should be pushed before visitors, have all their meals at the family table or remain up till their elders retire, but there are times and places when it is the children's right and privilege really to be members of the family.

Even when they are very young, children can assume responsibility for certain light tasks about the house and as their age and strength increases more and more duties should be added. The great American idea has been to remove all responsibility from the child and to give him a care-free childhood. I would not take one second of joy away from any child, but I would make it a joy for him to feel that the home is his and that he, too, helps in the making of it by performing certain duties that need to be done for the comfort of all. The child of two can pick up toys, put away dishes and silver, help set the table, dust low furniture and run many errands upstairs and down, and he loves to feel that he is "mother's helper."

He brings his daddy's slippers,
He picks up baby's toys,
He shuts the door for grandma
Without a bit of noise.

On errands for his mother
He scampers up and down;
She vows she would not change him
For all the boys in town.

(Song for "A Little Child's Day," by Emilie Poulsson and Eleanor Smith.)

THEN the child can help prepare for the great festival days, birthdays, Thanksgiving and Christmas, those joyous days which bring the family very close together; and we can let him share not only in the preparation, but in the joy of the day itself and here very early he gains a presentiment of the love and spirit of service that make home, and an ideal of the home that he will some day found.

As we would let the child share the labor and the festivals, so we must permit him to share the great family secrets and home joys. Let him know that he must never divulge anything that concerns only the family and I know that a child properly trained will never tell his playmates what he is told is a family secret.

So we begin very early to train him to keep his word and the sanctity of the home. When he has been thus prepared he is ready to share with the mother and father that greatest family secret, the coming of the new baby, and this confidence will bind the little one closer than anything else to the very heart of the home.

Children are so open-hearted and ready and respond so sweetly and quickly to faith and trust that we often miss great happiness by not sharing our hopes and joys more freely with them.

If we keep the bond very close our home will become the great meeting place of all children and this love and companionship between parents and children will be like a powerful magnet whose attraction the children cannot resist.

So from these beginnings the home tie will be so strengthened that we need never fear that the allurements of the world can draw our children from us, but can rest assured that they will always return to the "center of deep repose."

Litttle Talks on Astronomy

THE eighth day of next June is to be a gala day for astronomers. On that occasion the sun will be in total eclipse throughout a belt 150 miles wide, extending across the United States. The eclipse is expected to last for perhaps three hours, and will be confined to a belt beginning somewhere in Northern Oregon and ending in Northern Florida, thus cutting a diagonal line across the continent.

This strange phenomenon is scheduled to take place when the moon next interposes its bulk between the earth and the sun, a thing which occurs but rarely. During the time of its passage the sun will be obscured skies as a direct result. From every mountain peak in the belt of the eclipse powerful cameras and telescopes are to take notice of its progress.

The moon's shadow will cross the United States at a speed of something like 1000 miles an hour. The moment it begins to settle the path of the shadow will become dark, like an eerie twilight. No doubt the chickens will go to roost, in this path, and the cattle will come lowing from the fields. This is a familiar incident of every eclipse and one of the things which make it seem so strange. No one can behold an eclipse without a feeling of awe. It does not cause blackness to settle upon the earth, but pale shadows gather which are unlike anything we know.

In olden times an eclipse was the signal for superstition to run riot. A long time ago the cause was unknown and when this did become known to scientists the mass of people refused to believe them. So the coming of an eclipse was accompanied by weird rites, supplications to heaven, and fear seized upon people to such an extent that they believed the end of the world had come.

THE SANDMAN STORY FOR TONIGHT

BY MRS. F. A. WALKER.

Mr. Fox and the Rooster.

MR. FOX had a grudge against the big red and green rooster that lived at the farm nearest Mr. Fox's home.

"Every time I get near enough to pick out a good fat hen on the roost that rooster begins to crow, and either I lose my breakfast or my head," grumbled Mr. Fox.

"If I could only catch him outside the barn I would soon put a stop to his crowing, but he is too wise for that.

"Many a time I have wandered about the fence behind the barn where a fat hen and her chicks sometimes walk, and as sure as I do there on the fence is that Rooster looking around as if he scented danger, and the way he can crow and warn those hens is astonishing.

"There is no use; I must get rid of him and this very night I will make it my work to do so," said Mr. Fox trotting off toward the farm with a very determined air.

When Mr. Fox reached the farm the barnyard animals had been in bed some hours and all was still, so Mr. Fox carefully crept past Mr. Dog's house and made for the poultry house.

Mr. Fox kept in close to the barn in the shadow, stopping every once in a while to listen, and just as he had made ready to run across to the house where Mr. Rooster slept Mr. Fox saw something that made him stand very still.

Right beside the barn in the shadow stood Mr. Roosster just as if he were asleep. Mr. Fox smiled, but he hardly breathed for fear Mr. Rooster would crow before he could get near enough to grab him.

Very softly he crept toward Mr. Rooster, wondering all the time how it happened he was outdoors instead of beside his family in the poultry house.

"I EXPECT he was looking for me," thought Mr. Fox with a wide smile. "He will never look again, though, and after this the way will be clear for me to have good food for a while."

Mr. Fox sprang at him and grabbed him in his mouth and ran shaking him as he went.

But somehow Mr. Rooster seemed very hard, tougher than any very old duck or hen Mr. Fox had ever been unlucky enough to catch, and when he was out in the road he put Mr. Rooster on the ground and put his foot on him.

"I expected you would be tough," said Mr. Fox, "but even if I cannot eat you I will be rid of your meddling."

Mr. Rooster lay very still on the ground. Mr. Fox had been surprised he had not cried out when he first took hold of him.

Mr. Fox took a closer look, then he turned Mr. Rooster over with his paw, then he snuffed and then, strange as it may seem, Mr. Fox took to his heels and ran, leaving Mr. Rooster on the ground.

Mr. Fox had been fooled; he had carried off a wooden rooster that the farmer had brought home from town to put on top of his barn.

He had been so delighted to think he had caught Mr. Rooster, as he thought, that he had not noticed anything but that the rooster was red and green.

Mr. Fox felt very foolish, and he hoped no one had seen him drop the rooster, but someone had; it was Jack Rabbit.

Jack Rabbit ran over to the rooster on the ground and sniffed at it; then he began to laugh, and off he ran to the woods to tell his friends, and the next day poor Mr. Fox was asked by everyone he met how he liked the taste of a wooden rooster.

What Every Woman Wishes

By HELEN ROWLAND.

DO you remember
When "one good tailored suit" made a "lady,"
And you could put on that suit, with a "fancy blouse,"
And an all-silk rustling petticoat, and patent leather boots, and white gloves, and a tiny flowered toque, and a bunch of violets,
And be "all dressed up" for an afternoon tea party, or a theater, or dinner at a restaurant, or ANYTHING
Except a ball?
But NOW,
You get into a velvet afternoon frock or a startling restaurant gown,
And lace on twenty-dollar boots to match,
And have your hair marcelled and your eyebrows pulled,
And fasten on your near-pearl earrings and your diamond-mounted wrist watch,
And slip into your forty-seven-inch fur coat,
And your fur hat,
And pick up a muff worth a hundred or so, and your gold mesh bag,
And pin on a few orchids,
And say:
Will I DO? Really, I feel rawther shabby!"
And sometimes I think
We ARE rather shabby
To keep on dressing like that in these sad and perilous times,
When there are so many men "over there,"
Fighting to keep us safe and happy,
And needing socks, and shoes, and coal, and food, and guns, and medicine and things!

AND sometimes
I wonder whether it was because I was SO gloriously young
That I felt so smart and stunning in the tailored suit, and the patent leather shoes, and the tiny violet toque,
Or whether it is because we have grown so effete and luxurious and positively Babylonian
That we feel "shaubby" unless we are swathed in velvets and furs,
And carry jeweled hand bags.
And have "everything to match!"
And sometimes I envy trained nurses, and Red Cross workers, and Sisters of Charity.
Who always look so beautiful and fascinating in their simple cotton uniforms,
And NEVER have to worry their heads about "clothes!"
And I think that if all the women would get together
And adopt a war-time UNIFORM—and stick to it!—
It would be the ONE vital way of showing our grit and character,
And proving out real emancipation from "slavery"—
Much more convincing than carrying banners and going to jail!
Because, in her heart of hearts,
Every woman yearns for the sweet old simple days,
When you could go to a Christmas party in a white muslin gown,
With a carnation tucked in your hair,
And feel like a QUEEN!
And every girl worth marrying or loving or talking to, or even kissing,
Is heartily tired and sick
Of giving her time, and soul, and life, and brains,
To the DRESS proposition!
Aren't YOU?

Origin of the Alphabet.

NO one has ever satisfactorily explained the alphabet's origin because it grew very slowly. But we know that no ingenious man sat down and made the alphabet, and we know quite well, too, that the alphabet began as pictures.

Just as a child reads or learns by pictures long before it can read letters, so men used to read and write by pictures; and then these pictures were gradually made simpler and simpler, until at last they could be used in every and any way.

We know that the letter O was at first the picture of an eye, and that gradually men made the picture plainer, until at last they drew an O. The letter I was once a picture of a house, and very likely a capital A may have been at first the picture of a pyramid.

Ages and ages ago in Egypt men used both hands in writing. The priests employed the oldest kind, which was the pictures. This was called the sacred writing. But the ordinary people used a different and newer kind of writing, in which the pictures were turned into letters.

Not very many years ago men tried in vain to read the old sacred picture writing of the Egyptians, but they could not. Then they found the wonderful Rosetta stone, and this had written upon it the same thing three times—once in the pictures and once in the letters, and also once in other letters, and so men got the key to picture writing, and now it can be read easily.

Shark Skin Shoes Coming.

IT looks as though we may wear shoes of fish skin after all. Energetic efforts are being continued by the United States Bureau of Fisheries to establish effective cooperation between tanners who have informed the bureau that they desire to obtain supplies of the skins of sharks and other aquatic forms, and the fishermen and brokers who are seeking markets for the raw products. The bureau is giving all possible aid to the task of building up this important branch of the leather industry.

One man who is familiar with conditions in the South Sea Islands has stated that he can deliver 800 tons of these skins in a year. Some instances are reported in which arrangements have been perfected between tanners and fishing companies to take care of the entire output of raw material that may be obtained.

Do It Yourself

Dyeing.

WE are conserving food and coal this year and many of us are obliged to conserve our clothes also, partly for patriotic reasons and partly for necessary economy, but this is no reason why we should let ourselves look shabby. Very few people know what a great change for the better 10 cents' worth of dye will make in the appearance of a blouse or frock that has grown mussy and faded.

If it is of georgette crepe or chiffon, get a 10-cent roll of crepe paper of the shade you want the garment to be. Let this soak in the wash tub or bath tub in lukewarm water—just enough water to comfortably cover the blouse or frock will be required. When a good strong color is obtained in this way take out the paper and put in the blouse, opening it up as well as you can so that it will all be dyed evenly. Let it stay in the water for an hour or more or until it looks a little darker than you wish it to be.

Then take it out, rinse quickly in cold water to remove the excess dye, hang up to dry and press while still a little damp, and you will find that you have a new waist or dress of a different color. Do not attempt to dye heavy crepe de chines, satins, cotton or woolen in this way, for if you do you will surely be disappointed. Such materials can be beautifully dyed with the dyes you can buy in any drug store. Follow the directions on the envelope and the results will always be good.

THERE is, however, a way of dyeing not given in the directions which I have discovered that is useful for people who live in small flats and have no large wash boiler or pan big enough to put a dress or kimono in. It is that it is not really necessary to boil either silk, woolen or cotton to get a fast color that does not rub off, provided that you do not require a very dark shade.

You can dye a dress or a skirt or a portiere in a kitchen wash tub without putting it on the stove at all. Mix your dye according to directions, let it boil up, put in the salt or vinegar, whichever is called for in the directions. And then pour the dye into the tub and pour in hot water enough to just cover the thing you want to dye. Put in your material and with two sticks turn it about and pull it apart until all the dye has penetrated evenly. Let it stay in this bath for an hour or two, according to how deep you wish the color to be, but every once in a while turn it over with the sticks so that one place will not get darker than another.

When it is the right color, put it in the other tub and rinse in cold water until the water runs almost clear. This is to remove all the excess dye so that it will not rub off when it is dry. Then hang it on the line and when slightly damp press with a hot iron and you will be delighted with the result.
